FOREWORD

This book contains the complete profiles, special rules and wargear, compiled and updated, for the core Legiones Astartes Legion Crusade army list for Warhammer 40,000 and the Battles in the Age of Darkness gaming expansion. It allows Horus Heresy players to carry something lighter to their Warhammer 40,000 games than the weighty tomes of our main volumes, and it is also intended to be used both as a resource for constructing your armies and as a handy reference during play.

The contents of this book have been drawn from across the three volumes of Forge World’s Horus Heresy Istvan trilogy series, and are intended to be used alongside its companion book — Legiones Astartes - Istvan Campaign Legions — which provides the special rules and unique units and characters for the specific Legions featured in the epic conflict of the Horus Heresy's opening stages. It can also be used as a basis to build a Great Crusade army list for any of the Space Marine Legions.

Where needed, the various entries in this book have been revised and expanded from those previously published, both in order to take into account changes in the game rules, and to incorporate the invaluable feedback we have received from our players.

LEGIONES ASTARTES
CRUSADE ARMY LIST
The following army list comprises the compiled and updated Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list found in The Horus Heresy Books I-III. The Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list is a rules expansion for Warhammer 40,000, presenting all of the unit entries and rules a player will need to assemble and use an army of Legiones Astartes Space Marines from the age of the Great Crusade and the dawn of the Horus Heresy. Unlike the Space Marine Chapters of the 41st Millennium, the Space Marine Legions fielded a diverse range of military formations and unique war machines, and this army list allows players to construct a wide variety of armies to represent these different styles of warfare, featuring all of the specialist units and vehicles that have appeared in the first three books of Forge World’s Horus Heresy series.

The Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list is intended for use in games of Warhammer 40,000, and principally in using the Battles in the Age of Darkness rules expansion originally found in Books I-III and summarised in abstract here. The Battles in the Age of Darkness system, which uses its own Allies matrix and Force Organisation charts, allows players to replicate the epic scope and nightmarish slaughter of the age of the Horus Heresy in their games of Warhammer 40,000 in a more focused manner than the colossal clashes represented by Apocalypse games. A points total of around 1,750–3,500 points per player is an ideal game size for use with the Battles in the Age of Darkness rules. Battles of a larger size may benefit from using the Apocalypse rules instead, while smaller games may benefit from the use of a more restricted Force Organisation chart.

Lords of War

The Lords of War system, originally developed by Forge World, has since been expanded into other formats in the Warhammer 40,000 range, however the bespoke version presented here is designed to be used in conjunction with Horus Heresy gaming.

Availability

In a Battles in the Age of Darkness game of 2,000 points or greater, Lords of War selections will be available to an army based upon the specific Force Organisation chart being used (see the subsequent section for more details). These selections must be bought from the army's points total as normal, and may not make up more than 25% of the army's total points cost for each Lord of War choice, unless specified as being otherwise by the mission being played. Lords of War are only available to an army's primary detachment.

The Price of Failure

(Lords of War Secondary Objective)

As well as being colossal and powerful, and destructive units capable of turning the tide of battle on their own, a Lord of War also represents a substantial strategic asset to their own side, the loss or destruction of which can have dire implications for their army's cause.

As a result, unless specifically exempted or modified by the special rules of a Battles in the Age of Darkness mission, destroying an enemy Lord of War choice always represents a secondary objective in the game. This secondary objective is worth 2 additional Victory points to the destroying side in the case of an Engine of Destruction, Great Beast or Primarch or a additional Victory point each per vehicle/creature in the case of War Machine Detachments, Monstrous Hordes and Sub-orbital Strike Wings.

The 25% rule: This means that the maximum points value of a single Lord of War selection in a Battles in the Age of Darkness game for some common army sizes is as follows:

- 2,000 points = 500 points
- 2,250 points = 563 points
- 2,500 points = 625 points
- 2,750 points = 688 points
- 3,000 points = 750 points
- 3,250 points = 813 points
- 3,500 points = 875 points

Each of the following constitutes a single Lord of War choice within the limits of the game being played and must be available to the army it is being chosen for:

- The Primarch: The Primarch of the Space Marine Legion who forms the army’s primary detachment.
- The Engine of Destruction: A single Super-heavy vehicle of any type with a Hull Points value of 9 or greater, chosen either from the specific army list for the primary detachment or from an appropriate Apocalypse datasheet.
- War Machine Detachment: 1-2 Super-heavy vehicles of the same unit type, each with a Hull Points value of 8 or less, and each chosen either from the specific army list for the primary detachment or from an appropriate Apocalypse datasheet. This detachment must be deployed within a 6’ coherence if on the table at the start of the game or, if placed in reserve, will be rolled for as a single unit and must enter the table within 6’ of a single eligible location. However, after their deployment, these war engines are considered to be separate units in the game.
- The Great Beast: A single Gargantuan Creature of any type with a Wounds value of 9 or greater, chosen either from the specific army list for the primary detachment or from an appropriate Apocalypse datasheet.
- Monstrous Horde: 1-3 Gargantuan Creatures of the same unit type, each with a Wounds value of 8 or less chosen either from the specific army list for the primary detachment or from an appropriate Apocalypse datasheet. This horde must be deployed within a 6’ coherence if on the table at the start of the game or, if placed in reserve, will be rolled for as a single unit and must enter the table within 6’ of a single point. However, after their deployment, these creatures are considered to be separate units in the game.
- Sub-orbital Strike Wing: 1-3 Flyers with up to 3 Hull Points each and of the same type may be chosen to represent a sub-orbital launched strike force of fighters or bombers during Horus Heresy games. This wing of Flyers arrives from reserve as a single unit. They must enter play from within 6’ of the same chosen point on the table edge, but are afterwards treated as entirely separate units during the game.
The Battles in the Age of Darkness
Force Organisation Chart
Games using the Battles in the Age of Darkness rules expansion use one of a number of potential Force Organisation charts presented on page 10, depending on the kind of battle being waged, each reflecting a powerful concentration of military force on the tabletop. The standard is the Battles in the Age of Darkness Force Organisation chart, which offers the widest degree of flexibility and should be considered the standard form of play while using this rules expansion. This Force Organisation chart has also been created to work in tandem with the Rites of War rules found in this book.

Battles in the Age of Darkness
Alternative Force Organisation Charts
This expansion also details three other alternative and optional Force Organisation charts you can use to fight Battles in the Age of Darkness games, as well as several special missions specifically designed to incorporate them. The use of these alternative Force Organisation charts is strictly optional when not included as part of a particular mission and should always be agreed upon by both sides before their use. When playing Horus Heresy games using these alternative charts, the Rites of War rules for the Space Marine Legions may not be used in conjunction with them unless specifically mentioned in a particular mission, as the provisions and formations illustrated by the chart take precedence over them.

Designer's Note: These alternative charts are created with fun and narrative play, rather than pure competitive balance in mind, and should be treated accordingly. This is particularly the case with the Leviathan option which, for example, provides a rules framework for that age old question: “Could a Space Marine company take out a Reaver Titan”, and similar entertaining match-ups.

These alternative Battles in the Age of Darkness charts are:

• Battles in the Age of Darkness
  Onslaught Force Organisation Chart: This chart represents an army focused on direct mobile attack by heavy assault units, but at the cost of tactical flexibility and the element of surprise.

• Battles in the Age of Darkness
  Castellan Force Organisation Chart: This chart represents an army focused on defence, be it of a prepared fortification or battle line against an enemy attack or a vital objective on the battlefield.

• Battles in the Age of Darkness
  Leviathan Force Organisation Chart: This chart allows the most colossal engines of war, such as Battle Titans, to take to the field alongside their escorting forces, but imposes structured limits on what forces may support them.

Using Force Organisation Charts
When selecting your army for a Battles in the Age of Darkness game, you use your chosen army list in conjunction with one of the Force Organisation charts shown on page 10 of this book, and the scenario you are playing. Each chart is split into a number of categories which correspond to the sections in the army list, and each category has one or more boxes. Each light tone box indicates that you may make one choice from that section of the army list, while a dark tone box means that a choice there is compulsory and you must make a choice from that section.

Further advice on selecting your army and its composition can be found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook. However, note that the Force Organisation charts presented here take precedence over that listed in the rulebook and, unlike the standard chart and battle missions found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, you may not take an additional primary detachment in games over 2,000 points unless specified by the particular mission (the expansion of the army being taken has already been taken into account in the Battles in the Age of Darkness charts).

Optional Age of Darkness Rule
Destroyer Weapons
In Age of Darkness battles, players may opt to reduce the power of Destroyer (Strength D) weapons by introducing a random element to moderate their effect on play in smaller games. If doing so, it should be agreed upon by all parties openly before play begins. If this option is chosen, use the following amended rules for Destroyer weapons:

• Destroyer Weapons count as being Strength 10 and have the Instant Death, Sunder and Ignores Cover special rules. In addition, successful invulnerable saves taken against hits from Destroyer weapons must be re-rolled.
• Each unsaved wound from a Destroyer weapon inflicts D3+1 wounds. Each penetrating hit from a Destroyer weapon causes D3+1 Hull Points/rolls once on the appropriate Vehicle Damage chart.

Using Imperial units from other Forge World Books in Horus Heresy Games
The vast milieu of battle during the Horus Heresy and the armies of the Great Crusade were staggeringly diverse, only the briefest portion of which has so far been dealt with by Forge World's Horus Heresy supplements. In order to represent this diversity when it comes to Super-heavy vehicles and Flyers, it is perfectly acceptable to use specific Imperial Super-heavy vehicles and Flyer units from Forge World's wider Imperial Armour range such as Imperial Armour Apocalypse or Imperial Armour Aeronautica, which do not already have an era-specific counterpart listed in a Horus Heresy supplement. In many cases, the Imperialists of the Great Crusade see the origin of some of these designs, while in others they can simply be used to stand-in for one of the many, less widespread war machine types and unique patterns employed by a vast Imperial armed force, far less regimented and standardised than its 41st Millennium counterpart.

Space Marine Crew: Imperial Super-heavy tanks included with a Space Marine Legion primary detachment may be given the option to upgrade to a Space Marine Crew for +15 points, increasing their Ballistic Skill to BS 4 where this is not already the case.

Battle Servitor Control: Imperial Flyers may replace their human crew with hard-wired servitor control and dedicated cogitator targeting arrays, designed to identify and target weak spots on enemy vehicles. This upgrade gives the Flyer the Tank Hunters special rule and costs +15 points. If taken as an option for a Sub-orbital Strike Wing, then all the Flyers in the wing must be so upgraded.

Onslaught Army Special Rule: Rolling Thunder
Thanks to the thunder of their approach, the attack of an Onslaught army is usually more than easy to detect or predict. As a result, in any mission where the first turn and/or deployment is the result of a dice roll and unless the enemy force is also using the Onslaught Force Organisation chart, this army never has the first turn, unless it can Seize the Initiative.

Leviathan Army Special Rule: The Leviathan Lord of War
The centre and destructive heart of this army is its Leviathan. This must be a Lord of War of either the Engine of Destruction or Great Beast type. Unlike usual Lords of War, this may represent any percentage of your army value (and indeed constitute your entire force in a single model if you are so inclined, brave enough and your opponent agrees!). In contrast to the usual rules of Warhammer 40,000, this Leviathan is both your force's Warlord effectively (and uses its own special Warlord trait listed here) and is also a scoring unit.

Leviathan Warlord Trait – Legendary Destroyer: The Leviathan may fire Overwatch with any of its weapons that do not possess either the Primary Weapon or Blast types and may fire Overwatch at different targets (but no single weapon may fire Overwatch more than once per turn). The Leviathan has the Monster Hunter and Tank Hunters special rules (if it does not already do so) and, in addition, when making Fear tests in order to charge it, units must roll an additional D6 and discard the lowest of their results.
In the tumult and warfare of the Age of Darkness, the forces of the Imperium and the Traitors alike were torn apart by war and suspicion. During these times old alliances, suspicions and rivalries were bought to the fore. This is represented by the Age of Darkness Allies chart which works in a similar manner to the Allies chart in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, but rather than depicting relationships between alien races and forces, it offers a more nuanced web of relationships and discords between the Space Marine Legions at the beginning of the Horus Heresy. Note that the chart itself is not split along the lines of Traitors and Loyalists, as in many cases the Legions were themselves split into factions for either side, and so instead, in particular campaign battles you are fighting, who plays the Traitor and who plays the Loyalist in your own version of the Horus Heresy (and such additional limitations this poses) is left up to you.

In any game where the primary detachment is built using the Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list and an allied detachment representing a different Legion (i.e., one with a different version of the Legiones Astartes special rule) is included, use the table presented here rather than the one found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook to determine any additional effects which may apply to both detachments during the game.

Note: The Mechanicum entry on the Allies chart includes both the Legio Cybernecia and the Kagamata Omnisiah army lists.

Fellow Warriors
The two forces are willing to fight together for common cause against their foes.

Units in your army treat Fellow Warriors as not being part of their army with the exception that they may not be deliberately targeted, attacked, targeted with psychic powers, etc. (note that blasts, psychic powers and the like may still scatter over allied forces and adversely affect them). Fellow Warriors cannot benefit from the effects of allied Warlord Traits or be joined by allied independent characters and are not counted as friendly units for the purposes of psychic powers. In essence, the two forces fight alongside each other without any additional positive or negative effect.

By the Emperor's (or the Warmaster's) Command
Two forces with this relationship will only ever fight beside each other in the direct circumstances or by the direct command of their overlord, be they the Emperor or the Warmaster.

In this case the two forces are dealt with exactly like Distrusted Allies (see previously), but, in addition, at the start of each of the player's Movement phases, a D6 must be rolled for every unit (except those already engaged in combat) within 6" of an allied unit. On a roll of a 1, that unit may not move, shoot, run or assault that unit (being too busy watching for betrayal)! Make a note or place a counter to indicate which units have been so affected.

Sworn Brothers
The closest of allies who have fought beside each other many times.

The two forces are considered friendly units in all regards. These means for example, that Sworn Brothers may be joined by allied independent characters, are treated as friendly units for the targeting of psychic powers, special abilities, Warlord Traits and so on, and may also benefit from nurgle-vox carried by allied units.

Note: Not even Sworn Brothers can embark in allied transport vehicles, and rules that affect a particular force owing to its Legiones Astartes special rule do not carry over to an allied force.

Distrusted Allies
The two forces can make common cause against an enemy, but never fully trust each other due to long-standing feud or inherent antipathy.

Distrusted Allies are treated exactly like Fellow Warriors except that the allied units are never counted as scoring units.
SPACE MARINE LEGION WARLORD TRAITS

When generating their Warlord Traits, a Space Marine Legion Warlord may either roll on one of the Traits tables found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, or can alternatively roll on the table below.

Primarch of the Iron Warriors
LEGION PRAETOR

HQ

Praetors are the mightiest warriors and battle-leaders of the Space Marine Legions, second only to the god-like Primarchs in martial skill and generalship. These lords of the Imperium hold the power of life and death over whole worlds, with the direct control of entire war fleets and armies in their hands. Each is a vastly experienced warrior and warlord, unique in character, who has written a legend in blood for themselves, and carries into battle the finest wargear and weapons known to humanity. In their ranks can be found Chapter Masters and Lord Commanders, First Captains, Khans and Tribunes as the traditions of their Legions dictate. They are the masters of war and have commanded the hosts of the Great Crusade that have conquered worlds unnumbered.

Alternatively, the Legion Praetor may be equipped with Terminator armour. If this is the case they use the following list of options:

- A Terminator may be one of the following:
  - Terminator armour with combi-bolter & power weapon
  - Cataphractii Terminator armour with combi-bolter & power weapon

- A Terminator may exchange their combi-bolter for one of the following:
  - Bolter
  - Volkite charger

- A Terminator may exchange their power weapon for one of the following:
  - Power fist or lightning claw
  - Chainsflam
  - Thunder hammer or Paragon blade

- A Terminator may exchange both their power weapon and combi-bolter for a pair of lightning claws

- A Terminator may take digital lasers
- A Terminator may take an iron halo
- A Terminator may upgrade a single weapon to become:
  - Master-crafted
- A Terminator may take a grenade harness
MASTER OF THE LEGION
The full panoply of war of a Legion is a terrible thing to behold, and is capable of obliterating entire civilisations through a variety of deadly means ranging from sheer brute force and numbers, armoured assault waves, murderous siege-craft or overwhelming and relentless attack from close orbit. On the battlefield the order of deployment of a Space Marine Legion are represented by the army list as written, however varied formations and tactics are also present within the Legions and represented here by the Rites of War special rule.

A Space Marine Legion may only include a single model with this rule as part of their HQ choice per 1,000 points in the force. A model with this special rule may also include a Command squad as a re-roll on the same choice on the Force Organisation chart (see page 10).

If the army’s Warlord (see the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook), they have the Master of the Legion special rule. They may also roll twice on their chosen Warlord Traits chart (re-rolling any doubled result) and select which of the two results they wish to use.

The use of one of the Rites of War is always optional as they impose limitations on your army as well as offering other abilities and new configurations of units on the Force Organisation chart. In particular you may be prevented from using certain types of units unless you purchase a particular type of Dedicated Transport for them. This makes creating an army list a more complex procedure than normal and is recommended mainly for experienced players.

Only one Rite of War formation may be used by an army, regardless of whether multiple characters with this rule are included, and the Rites of War chosen only affects the force’s primary detachment. However, allied forces eligible to do so may use different rites or none at all – effects do not carry over to allied forces from the primary detachment and vice versa.

Several of the more common Rites of War for the Space Marine Legions are shown below – individual Legions or special characters may also have unique Rites of War of their own.

RITE OF WAR: ORBITAL ASSAULT
Effects
- All units in the army eligible to take a Rhino as a Dedicated Transport may instead select Legion or Dreadnought Drop Pods as Dedicated Transports.
- Legion Dreadnoughts may take Legion Drop Pods as Dedicated Transports (on a 2:1 ratio) and Contemptor Dreadnoughts may take Dreadnought Drop Pods (see page 45) as Dedicated Transports (on a 2:1 ratio).
- Units and models in Terminator armour gain the Deep Strike special rule.
- Legion Rapier Weapons Batteries may select Legion Drop Pods as Dedicated Transports.

Limitations
- Units that cannot be deployed via Deep Strike, either by having access to the rule themselves or because they cannot be carried in a transport vehicle that has it (infantry in Drop Pods, for example), may not be chosen as part of the army.
- You may not take a fortification allied detachment.
- All units purchased Dedicated Transports in this army must begin the game transported within them.

RICE OF WAR: ARMOURED SPEARHEAD
Effects
- All units in the army eligible to take a Rhino as a Dedicated Transport may instead select either a Land Raider Phobos or a Land Raider Proteus if they number ten models or fewer as their Dedicated Transport.
- Tank Shocked inflicted by tanks in the force impose an additional -1 LD penalty.

Limitations
- All units with the Infantry type in the army must either be purchased Dedicated Transports and start the game deployed inside them, or begin play transported inside another vehicle in the army. This in essence means that you may not take more infantry models in your army during selection than you have transport capacity to carry!
- Should all the tanks in the force be destroyed in the battle, then the enemy counts as having scored an additional secondary objective.
- You may not take a fortification allied detachment.

RITE OF WAR: ANGEL’S WRATH
Effects
- Any model with the Jump Infantry type gains the Hit and Run special rule if it did not already possess it.
- Any unit eligible to take a Rhino as a Dedicated Transport may instead take a Storm Eagle Gunship as a Dedicated Transport.

Limitations
- Only units with the Jump Infantry, Skimmer and Jetbike types, as well as infantry units which begin the game inside transportation Skimmers and Flyers, may be chosen as part of the force. This in essence means that you may not take more infantry models in your army during selection than you have Skimmer/Flyer transport capacity to carry!
- No unit with the Tank type (unless also a Skimmer or flyer) may be taken as part of this army.
- You may not take a fortification allied detachment.

RITE OF WAR: PRIDE OF THE LEGION
Effects
- Veteran and Terminator squads are Troops choices in the force, and units of either of these types must be selected as the force’s compulsory Troops selections. This also includes any Legion specific Terminator squads which are also Elites choices.
- Command squads may take a Land Raider of either the Proteus or Phobos type as a Dedicated Transport.

Limitations
- Should all Veterans and Terminator squads in the force be destroyed in the battle, then the enemy counts as having scored an additional secondary objective.
- You may not take an allied force detachment.

- Bolt pistol
- Chainsword or combat blade
- Frag and frag grenades

Wargear (Terminator only)
- Terminator armour or Cataphractii armour
- Combi-bolter
- Power weapon

Special Rules (All)
- Legiones Astartes
- Consul
- Independent Character

Options

- A Legion Centurion may take one of the following:
  - Bolter
  - Combi-weapon
  - Volkite charger

- A Legion Centurion may exchange either their bolt pistol and/or chainsword/combat blade for one of the following:
  - Volkite serpent
  - Plasma pistol
  - Heavy chainsword
  - Carnifex sabre
  - Power weapon
  - Power fist
  - Single lightning claw
  - Thunder hammer

- A Legion Centurion may exchange both their bolt pistol and chainsword/combat blade for a pair of lightning claws

- A Legion Centurion may take meltabombs

- A Legion Centurion may exchange their power armour for:
  - Armiger armour

Options (Terminator only)

Alternatively, the Legion Centurion may be equipped with Terminator armour. If this is the case they use the following list of options:

- A Terminator may be one of the following:
  - Terminator armour
  - Terminator armour with combi-bolter & power weapon
  - Cataphractii Terminator armour

- A Terminator may exchange their combi-bolter for one of the following:
  - Combi-weapon
  - Volkite charger

- A Terminator may exchange their power weapon for one of the following:
  - Power fist
  - Lightning claw
  - Chainfist
  - Thunder hammer

- A Terminator may exchange both their power weapon and combi-bolter for:
  - Pair of lightning claws
CONSUL: Any Consul may be upgraded to one of these roles for the points cost listed, gaining any wargear and special rules, and abiding by any limitations shown. No Consul may have more than one particular upgrade. These upgrades should always be clearly represented on the model.

CHAPELAIN: 35 POINTS
Wargear
- Crocius Arcanum – power weapon (type as shown on model).
Special Rule
- Zealot

MASTER OF SIGNAL: 45 POINTS
Wargear
- Cognis-signum and Nuncio-vox.
- May not take a combi-weapon, boarding shield, boltel, power fist, thunder hammer, lightning claw(s), Bike, Jetbike or Terminator armour.
Special Rule
- Bombardment – Once per game, in lieu of firing a weapon in the Shooting phase, they can opt to call in a bombardment attack against the enemy. This has the following profile:

LEGION CHAMPION: 35 POINTS
Wargear
- One close combat weapon wielded by the Legion Champion gains the Master-crafted special rule.
Special Rules
- Supreme Fighter – Increase WS to 6.
- Honour of the Legion – Must re-roll failed attempts at Glorious Intervention, and must always issue challenges in combat if able.

LIBRARIAN: 25 POINTS PLUS THE COST OF PSYCHIC MASTERY
Psycer
- Must take up to two levels of psychic mastery (costing 20 points each). A single psychic discipline from the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook is then chosen.
Wargear
- Replaces their chainsword or combat blade (or power weapon if in Terminator armour) with a force weapon. A force sword, force axe or force stave may be chosen.

FORCE LORD: 35 POINTS
Wargear
- Servo-arm and artificial armour
- Additional wargear listed for the Techmarine on page 23, may also be taken at the costs indicated.
- May take a Cortex Controller for +15 points.
Special Rule
- Blacksmith

PRIMUS MEDICA: 35 POINTS
Wargear
- Narthecium and needle pistol.
Special Rule
- Sacred Trust – In missions where Victory points are scored for destroying units, if a Primus Medica is within 6" of a friendly Space Marine infantry or Jump infantry unit which it wiped out by the enemy, roll a D6. On a 5+ the player whose unit was destroyed also gains a Victory point, as well as the enemy.

VIGILATOR: 35 POINTS
Wargear
- Cameeleine and boltel (Kraken/Tempet/Scorpius boltel).
- May replace their power armour with scout armour (4+ save); this gains them the Infiltrate and Move through Cover rules (free).
- May not take combi-weapon, boarding shield, power fist, thunder hammer, lightning claw(s), Bike, Jetbike or Terminator armour.
Special Rules
- Scout and Sniper
- Sabotage! After both sides have deployed, but before the first game turn, select a single enemy unit or fortification on the table (not an Independent Character.) Roll a D6. On a 1-4 that unit suffers D6 Str 5 AP 6 hits. Targets are struck against their weakest Armour value. Casualties are allocated by the opposing player and do not cause Morale checks. A single Sabotage attack may be made for each Vigilator in the force. If both sides possess them, roll off to determine which side's attacks go first.

SIEGE BREAKER: 45 POINTS
Wargear
- Nuncio-vox.
- May take up to three Phosphex bombs for 10 points each. Medusa Siege Tanks in the army may exchange their normal shells for Phosphex shells for free.
Special Rule
- Art of Destruction: The Siege Breaker has the Tank Hunters and Wreckers special rules applied to all of their own attacks, and also confers these rules to the heavy weapon shooting attacks of any infantry unit they join.

MORITAT: 45 POINTS
Wargear
- Additional bolt pistol and rad grenades.
- May not take a combi-weapon, boarding shield, boltel, power fist, thunder hammer, lightning claw(s), Bike, Jetbike or Terminator armour.
Special Rules
- Scout and Counter-attack
- Chain Fire – When attacking with pistol weapons, the Moritat may declare a Chain Fire attack. For every successful hit they may make an immediate additional shooting attack with the weapon against the same target and may continue doing so until they miss with the weapon (note that the Gunslinger special rule applies and so the Moritat may fire two pistols at once). After they have made a Chain Fire attack, they may not assault in that later turn or use shooting attacks in the following turn.
- Lone Killer – A Moritat may not be taken as a Compulsory HQ choice, only as an optional HQ choice, and may never be the army's Warlord. Note that this means a Moritat may not be taken as part of an Allied Contingent. They may not join units or travel inside transports with other units except Legion Destroyer squads. They may not benefit from any Blessing type psychic powers, or from Leadership bonuses, Leadership re-rolls or other special rules provided by other friendly models or army-wide effects which are the result of a Rite of War.
LEGION COMMAND SQUAD

It is common for Space Marine commanders and champions to be accompanied in battle by a squad of highly disciplined and worthy warriors. They serve both as a bodyguard for their commander and are entrusted to carry one of the Legions' great standards, making them a rallying point on the battlefield for the Legion's troops. These chosen Space Marines have access to the finest wargear available to their rank and file and embody the Legion's Honour in war.

Unit Type
- Infantry

Wargear
- Armour: Terminator
- Bolter (Chosen only)
- Legion Standard (Standard Bearer only)
- Bolt pistol
- Chainsword or combat blade
- Frag and Krak grenades

Dedicated Transport
- A Legion Command Squad may choose a Rhino or Proteus Land Raider as a Dedicated Transport. Note that if an army contains a character that has one of the Rites of War special rules (see page 13), other Dedicated Transport options may be available for the squad.

Special Rules (All)
- Legiones Astartes
- Chosen Warriors
- Retinue

Wargear (Terminator Bodyguard only)
- Terminator armour or Cataphractii armour
- Combi-bolter
- Power weapon
- Legion Standard (Terminator Standard Bearer only)
Options

- The Legion Command Squad may take:
  - Two additional Legion Space Marine Chosen +20 points each

- The Legion Command Squad may take:
  - Melta bomb +25 points
  - Combat shield +5 points each
  - Any member of the Legion Command Squad may take:
    - Chainsword +5 points each
    - Charnelhal Sabre +5 points each
    - Power weapon +10 points each
    - Power fist or lightning claw +15 points each
    - Plasma pistol +15 points each
  - Any Space Marine Chosen may exchange their bolter for one of the following:
    - Combi-bolter +10 points each
    - Volkite charger +10 points each

- If the squad's Legion Praetor has either a Jump pack, Space Marine Bike or Jetbike, then the Legion Command Squad may also be identically equipped for the cost shown below. If any of these options are taken, the squad may no longer take a Dedicated Transport and every member of the squad must be identically upgraded:
  - Jump pack +15 points each
  - Space Marine Bike with twin-linked bolters +20 points each
  - Legion Scimitar Pattern Jetbike with heavy bolter +35 points each

Special Option (Terminator Bodyguard)

If the Legion Praetor which is part of the Legion Command Squad's Force Organisation chart choice has Terminator armour, the squad may exchange their wargear for a set of Terminator armour. If the squad is upgraded with Terminator armour, then every member of the squad must be upgraded in the same way and has access to the following options rather than those shown previously:

- The Terminator Bodyguard and Terminator Standard Bearer must be equipped with one of the following:
  - Terminator armour +25 points each
  - Cataphractii Terminator Armour +15 points each

- One model in the squad may exchange their Combi-bolter for one of the following:
  - Heavy Flamer +10 points
  - Reaper autocannon +15 points
  - Plasma blaster +15 points

- Any Terminator and/or the Terminator Standard Bearer may exchange their Combi-bolter for:
  - Combi-weapon +7 points
  - Volkite charger +7 points

- Any Terminator and/or the Terminator Standard Bearer may exchange their power weapon for one of the following:
  - Power fist +5 points
  - Lightning claw +5 points
  - Chainfist +10 points
  - Thunder hammer +15 points

- Any Terminator and/or the Terminator Standard Bearer may exchange both their power weapon and Combi-bolter for:
  - Pair of lightning claws +25 points

- The Terminator Standard Bearer may take:
  - Grenade harness +10 points

- Legion Command Squads equipped in Terminator armour numbering five models or less may take a Land Raider Phobos as a Dedicated Transport (and can not take a Rhino).

Retinue

A Legion Command Squad may only be chosen as a retinue for a Legion Praetor or Legion special character with the Warlord special rule, and may not be taken as part of an army on their own. They take up a single Force Organisation chart choice with that Praetor, but do not have to be deployed with them and are treated as a separate unit during the game.

  - The Destroyer Sergeant may upgrade their power armour to:
    - Artificer armour +10 points
  - The Destroyer Sergeant may take up to:
    - Three phosphex bombs +10 points each

ELITES

The origins of the Destroyer squads lay in the Unification Wars of Terra, but perhaps more surprisingly not with the forces of the Emperor but his enemies. Considered dishonourable by some Legions who make little use of them or eschew them altogether, the Destroyers are equipped with and expert in the use of otherwise proscribed and forbidden weaponry. Alongside certain factions of the Mechanicum, only Destroyer squads have license to use such forbidden devices. Rad weapons, bio-alchem munitions and the cauldron bubbling horror of Phosphex are among their dark arsenal—weapons which vociferously rain from the ground on which they are used.

During the long nightmare of the Age of Strife such weapons rendred man once-life-sustaining colonies uninhabitable charnel houses of the dead. Marked by their fire-blackened and chem-scaled armour, Space Marine Destroyers are often shunned and deemed somehow tainted by their battle-brothers in many Legions as considered at best a necessary evil although the effectiveness of their relic-weapons cannot be denied.
LEGION TERMINATOR SQUAD

ELITES

The fruits of the Tactical Dreadnought Armour project. Terminator suits are the ultimate advance in personal armour technology the Imperium has developed. Terminator squads match these formidable developments with the finest veteran forces of the Legions to form devastating fronline assault units, able to withstand the heaviest enemy fire and deliver a hammer blow to crush the foe with ruthless power. Terminator armour equipped units are particularly valuable in heavy close-quarter fighting such as battles fought in the deep confines of hive cities or in starship boarding actions.

Unit Composition
- 4 Legion Terminators
- 1 Legion Terminator Sergeant

Unit Type
- Legion Terminator Space Marine: Infantry
- Legion Terminator Sergeant: Infantry (Character)

Wargear
- Terminator armour
- Combi-bolter
- Power weapon

Dedicated Transport
- A Legion Terminator squad numbering five models may take a Land Raider Phobos as a Dedicated Transport or a Spartan if ten models or fewer. Note that if an army contains a character that has one of the Laws of War special rules (see page 15), other Dedicated Transport options may be available for the squad.

Options
- The Legion Terminator Squad may take:
  - Up to 5 additional Terminators
  - For every five models in the Legion Terminator Squad, one Terminator may exchange their combi-bolter for one of the following special weapons:
    - Heavy flamers
    - Reaper autocannon
    - Plasma blaster
  - Any Terminator and/or the Terminator Sergeant may exchange their combi-bolter for one of the following:
    - Combi-weapon
    - Volkite charger
  - Any Terminator and/or the Terminator Sergeant may exchange their power weapon for one of the following:
    - Power fist
    - Lightning claw
    - Chainfist
    - Thunder hammer
  - Any Terminator and/or the Terminator Sergeant may exchange both their power weapon and combi-bolter for:
    - Pair of lightning claws
  - The Terminator Sergeant may take a grenade harness
  - Any unit may exchange its Terminator armour for Carapace II pattern armour for free. If this is the case then the entire unit must be so equipped and appropriately modelled.

Special Rules
- Legiones Astartes
- Implacable Advance

Implacable Advance
Legion Terminator squads are used to assault the most heavily defended objectives and secure them for the advance of allied forces. Legion Terminator Squads are always counted as scoring units in any mission where Troops are also counted as scoring units.

    - Any Servo-automata may exchange its bolter with one of the following:
      - Lasculter
      - Power fist
      - Flamer
      - Rotor cannon

Cybernetica

If Servo-automata are no longer accompanied by a Legion Techmarine, they must take a Pinning test at the start of each Movement phase unless they are already engaged in combat (in which case they fight on normally).
A Legion’s Apothecaries carry its most sacred trust—the care of its fallen and the promise of its future. Serving as battlefield healers, they offer their aid to the wounded, return the injured back to the fray and minister final mercy to those in need of it. From those beyond help, they have the onerous duty of recovering the Legion’s gene-seed zygotes for implantation in future generations of Space Marines. These tasks require skill, learning and above all courage—for it is one thing to fight an enemy, and quite another to turn from battle and tend to the fallen in the midst of war when all around is a whirlwind of slaughter heedless of safety.

Dreadnought Talon

A Dreadnought Talon is a specific formation designed to operate as a 'clenched fist' on the battlefield in order to smash through the fiercest resistance, but given the power and individuality of the Dreadnoughts themselves operates more akin to a warrior band than a squadron unit. When first deployed on the battlefield (either at the start of the game or when arriving via Reserves later), the Dreadnoughts must be placed within 6" of each other, but afterwards operate independently, and are not treated as a vehicle squadron.

Dreadnought Talon

A Dreadnought Talon is a specific formation designed to operate as a 'clenched fist' on the battlefield in order to smash through the fiercest resistance, but given the power and individuality of the Dreadnoughts themselves operates more akin to a warrior band than a squadron unit. When first deployed on the battlefield (either at the start of the game or when arriving via Reserves later on), the Dreadnoughts must be placed within 6" of each other, but afterwards operate independently and are not treated as a vehicle squadron.

Atmosfication Shielding

One of the Contemptor pattern's most distinctive features is a series of defensive field generators mounted inside its armour plating and powered by the enhanced Atmosfication power core within.

A Contemptor Dreadnought has a +5 invulnerable save against shooting attacks and explosions, and +6 against attacks suffered in close combat. In addition, if the Contemptor suffers a 'Vehicle Explodes' damage result, add +1 to the radius of the blast.

  - Graviton cannon .................................................... 35 points each

ELITES

One of a number of similar designs utilised by the Imperium's armed forces, Rapier carriers are semi-automated tracked weapons carriers with on-board targeting systems and power generators. Designed to mount support weaponry too large and cumbersome for even the superhuman strength of a Space Marine to carry, the Rapiers' relatively small size and mobility makes it a perfect support weapon both in defence and offence where larger field artillery and armoured vehicles cannot go due to their size or weight. The most common armaments mounted on the Rapiers of the Space Marine Legions are quad-heavy bolters and Laser Destroyer arrays for anti-personnel and anti-armour use respectively, while so-called "Thudd Gun" multi-launchers are favoured for siege warfare and suppressive fire. More rarely a Legion's Techmarines will also use Rapier carriers as mounts for more exotic weaponry for special operations such as the Graviton cannon.
ELITES

The Dreadnought weapon configuration referred to as the Morris sub-pattern mounts identical weapons on both arms, granting it the ability to bring a fearsome weight of firepower to bear on its target. The Morris is often fitted with a helical targeting array slaved to enhanced target-curing logic engines that allow it to track its foe with unprecedented accuracy and which make it particularly deadly against enemy flyers.

Initially, the majority of Morris sub-pattern Dreadnoughts were of the Consequent type, but as the Castraferium Patterns (MkIV and MkV) Dreadnought has entered service in increasing numbers, this sub-pattern has been pressed into the anti-air role across all of the war zones of the Imperium.

Helical Targeting Array
The Helical array's advanced augurs and sophisticated banks of combat-cogitators allow the Morris Dreadnought to track and destroy even the swiftest of targets with ease. However, due to the Helical array's delicacy and ravenous consumption of power, the Dreadnought must be immobile while the system is in operation.

If the Legion Morris Dreadnought chooses to neither move nor run in its turn, it gains the Skyfire and Interceptor special rules for that entire Game turn (i.e., both the controlling player's turn, and his opponent's following player turn).

Elites

Dreadnoughts are utilised throughout the Legiones Astartes, fielded as spearhead assault units able to operate in war zones and environments impassable to more conventional classes of vehicle. Most in demand of all the types of Dreadnought in the arsenals of the Imperium are the Con temptors, towering war machines that utilise a combination of machine systems recovered during the Great Crusade, principal amongst them the potent and ill-understood aromatic arc reactor. When the Legiones Astartes Con temptor Dreadnought Talons go to war they are sometimes accompanied by specialist machines to protect them from air attack. Where possible, the Con temptor-Mortis is fielded, for thisitre-air sub-pattern of the standard Con temptor Dreadnought is equipped with an array of powerful weapons specifically designed to bring down enemy flyers, potent targeting augurs that allow it to lock onto and track multiple foes, as well as heavy field projectors able to withstand the inevitable storm of return fire its target is sure to unleash.
LEGION TACTICAL SQUAD

TROOPS

Tactical squads are the mainstay of the Space Marine Legions and the force by which the Great Crusade has reconquered much of the galaxy. It is by the fighting power of thousands of superhuman warriors such as these, armed and armoured for battle in the harshest of environments and the deadliest of warzones that the enemies of Mankind have been crushed time and again. The Legion Tactical squad is a highly flexible infantry unit able to attack or defend as will, assault heavily fortified positions and take and hold strategic objectives or simply slaughter an enemy comprehensively in almost any terrain or situation.

      - Single lightning claw... 15 points
    - The squad’s Sergeant may take meltas bombs... 15 points
    - The squad’s Sergeant may upgrade to articifer armour... 15 points

Fury of the Legion

One of the Legion’s greatest assets in open battle is the massed, co-ordinated hail of bolter fire its Tactical squads can unleash. Such is the firepower of his storm of explosive shells that enemy infantry formations and even squadrons of light vehicles will be blasted to the four winds in a single thunderous volley of bolt shells.

While at least five models remain in the unit armed with bolters or bolt pistols, the squad can elect to make a Fury of the Legion attack in the Shooting phase so long as they did not move, arrive via Deep Strike or disembark a vehicle earlier in that player turn. Models making a Fury of the Legion attack may fire twice with their bolters or bolt pistols against a single target (note that in the case of a combi-weapon only the bolt part may fire twice).

Owing to the massive expenditure of ammunition involved, once a squad has made a Fury of the Legion attack it may not use Overwatch fire later that turn or fire in the Shooting phase of their next player turn, but may otherwise move, fight in assault, run, etc., normally placing a counter or note next to the unit to represent this. Fury of the Legion attacks may not be used for Snap Shots, and models joining the unit do not benefit from this rule and must fire normally, as does any non-bolter weapon used by the squad at the same time as the Fury of the Legion attack is made.

TROOPS

Jump pack-equipped assault squads are rapid attack forces whose wargear is optimised towards close-quarter fighting and hit-and-run tactics. The use of jump packs allows Assault squads to move with great speed across the battlefield and impact the enemy line with savage force, leaping past intervening terrain and open defences to engage their adversaries in bloody melee. The needs of even limited flight systems however preclude the use of heavy weaponry or extensive munitions supplies. Jump pack-equipped Assault squads are not embraced to the same extent by all of the Legions for reasons of combat doctrine, temperament or simple resource difficulties, with the Raven Guard and Night Lords being among their greatest proponents. Even these Legions with whom they do not find particular favour however, such as the Death Guard and Iron Hands, can still field a force of them when the need arises.
Legion Breacher Siege Squad

Troops

The most hazardous and desperate spheres of warfare such as boarding actions amid the cold void of space and the forlorn hope of the first wave of attackers into a breached fortress domain can prove lethal beyond endurance, even for the warriors of the Legiones Astartes. For this reason since the early days of the Great Crusade, specialised forms of wargear and tactics have been under continuous development to cope with these zones Mortals and certain Legions such as the Imperial Fists, World Eaters and the Iron Warriors have even made these bloody modes of warfare their particular concern. Breacher Siege squads are units of Space Marines equipped with specialised arms and armour designed to enable them to act as a Vanguard in such missions, including heavy ablative shields to resist enemy fire and specialized breaching charges and lascuzzers to bypass bulkheads and shatter strongpoints.

  - The Legion Breacher Siege Squad's Sergeant may:
    - Upgrade to artificer armour ......................................................... +10 points
    - (Note: This means he will also be subject to the Hardened Armour special rule)

Hardened Armour

Breacher squads employ specially customised and augmented suits of power armour (usually variants on the Iron pattern) modified by the Legion’s Techmarine to better withstand the rigours of siege warfare, lethal environments and close-quarter boarding actions in space. The servos and power systems of such armour are overstrained as a result of these modifications, and require constant extensive maintenance between battles. This deficiency was one of the factors that ultimately led to the Tactical Dreadnought Armour project.

Hardened armour automatically counts as being Void Hardened (see the Cold Void mission special rules on page 473 of The Horus Heresy Book One: Betrayal) in missions where this is appropriate, and failed armour saves against template and blast weapons may be re-rolled. Units with Hardened Armour reduce the distance rolled for charges, sweeping advances and run moves by 1.

Support Squad
Support squads are Legion formations that utilise specialised wargear, weapons and tactics to support the assault of the Legion's main strength. Although they are Troops choices for the Space Marine Legion army, they may not be used to fill compulsory Troops choices on a Force Organisation chart (unless a particular Legion has special rules to the contrary).

Troops
Tactical support squads are mobile fire-support units that replace the utilitarian bolter of their comrades with more specialised weapons, enabling them to cope with particular battlefield threats or enemies. Operating in close order with the Legion’s other troops, the support squad’s firepower enables a battlefield strike force of Space Marines to act with even more versatility and engage a wider range of targets on its own terms. The most common armaments used by Tactical support squads are flamers which are ideal for urban warfare, bunker and trench clearance, as well as eliminating xenos life forms from an area. Rapid-firing rotor cannon are used against large numbers of lightly armed foes, thermic energy melts for tank busting, and where available, plasma and Volkite weapons against the most heavily armoured and monstrous enemies.

Dedicated Transports
The Rhino is the most widely used armoured personnel carrier in the Imperium. Based on ancient STC technology, the fundamental design is robust, reliable and easy to maintain, and its adaptive power plant can run on a wide variety of fuels (with varying degrees of efficiency), making it perfect for the wide-ranging armies of the Great Crusade. Produced in the thousands and with several distinct patterns in common use—the Demons being most widespread in the Space Marine Legions, it has also served as the basis for a number of other war machines.

Drop Pod Assault

Legion Drop Pods always enter play using the Deep Strike rules, and units who have purchased Drop Pods as transports must always be deployed in them. At the beginning of the controlling player's first turn, they must choose half of their Drop Pod units (rounding up) to make a Drop Pod Assault with. These units arrive on their player's first player turn. The arrival of the remaining Drop Pods in the player's force is rolled for as usual for the mission. A unit who Deep Strikes via Drop Pod may not assault in the turn it arrives. Note: As soon as a Drop Pod is deployed, its doors are automatically opened to their full extent.

Immobile

Once it has been deployed, a Drop Pod cannot move, and counts as a vehicle that has suffered an irreparable Immobilized result (although no Hull Point loss is suffered).

Inertial Guidance System

Should a Drop Pod scatter on top of impassable terrain or another model, then reduce the scatter distance by the minimum required to avoid the obstacle. Note that the Lictor pattern Dreadnought Drop Pod is considerably larger than the more common Drop Pod and so will need a larger space in which to land successfully.

Burning Retros

Owing to the meteoric descent speed and impact of the Legion Dreadnought Drop Pod, and the fiery blast of the Drop Pod's retros on arrival, the Legion Dreadnought Drop Pod has the Shroud special rule on the game turn it arrives (note this also applies to any interceptor fire or similar effects it might be subject to). Once the Drop Pod lands, its doors are opened automatically, but the Dreadnought inside does not have to deploy out unless the controlling player wishes. Should the Dreadnought carried by the Drop Pod remain on any part of its structure (including its doors) on the game turn the Drop Pod arrives, it benefits from the Shrouded special rule also, as does any unit targeted by any shooting attack whose line of sight passes through or over the Drop Pod on the game turn of its arrival.

Assault Vehicle

The Legion Dreadnought Drop Pod has the Assault Vehicle special rule thanks to its larger size and special design, allowing the transported Dreadnought to assault on the same turn it disembarks from the Drop Pod's structure. However, the Dreadnought may still assault on the same turn the Drop Pod arrives from Deep Strike.
FAST ATTACK

Seeker squads are comprised of a specialised force of Space Marines whose principal task on the battlefield is to identify an enemy's command structure—its warlords, officers, priests, demagogues—whatever they may be, and slay them with a well-placed bolt round while the battle rages around them. The Alpha Legion are said to have first crystallized this tactic and squad configuration, which has since, with the Emperor's approval, spread to the other Legions, although its use sits poorly within the combat doctrine of some Seeker squad members are chosen primarily on pure merit as the best shots in their Legion, as a Seeker strike force will often be forced to rely on the bravest with the opportunity to take down their targets at close range, rather than have the luxury of distance and able sighting as a sniper in a reconnaissance squad might have. To aid them in the kill, Seeker squads are usually equipped with special issue ammunition to better deal with their chosen victims.

- 4 Seeker Space Marines
- 1 Strike Leader

Unit Type
- Legion Seeker Space Marine: Infantry
- Legion Strike Leader: Infantry (Character)

Warrior
- Power armour
- Bolter
- Bolt pistol
- Frag and krak grenades

Special Rules
- Legiones Astartes
- Special Issue Ammunition
- Marked For Death

Dedicated Transport
- A Seeker squad may choose a Rhino or a Land Raider
- Proxies as a Dedicated Transport. Note that if an army contains a character that has one of the Rites of War special rules (see page 15), other Dedicated Transport options may be available for the squad.

Options
- The Legion Seeker Squad may take:
  - Up to 5 additional Seeker Space Marines — 15 points each
  - One Seeker Space Marine may take a nuncio-vox — 15 points
  - Any Seeker Space Marine may exchange their bolt rifle for:
    - Combi-weapon — 10 points each
  - The Legion Seeker Squad's Strike Leader may take one of the following:
    - Power weapon — 10 points
    - Power fist — 15 points
  - The Legion Seeker Squad's Strike Leader may upgrade to:
    - Melta-bombs — 5 points
  - The Legion Seeker Squad's Strike Leader may exchange their bolt rifle and special issue ammunition for a plasma pistol — 10 points

Special Issue Ammunition
Seeker Space Marines are equipped with Kraken, Scorpius and Tempest bolt shells for their bolters (and combi-weapons where applicable), and may choose which to use each turn they fire.

Marked For Death
After the two sides have set up and any infiltrators have been placed, each Space Marine Seeker unit in a player's force may specify a single enemy unit or independent character as being 'Marked for Death'. Make a note of which unit this is. The Legion Seeker unit now counts as having the Preferred Enemy special rule against this chosen target.

FAST ATTACK

Outriders are mechanised Space Marine reconnaissance squads who take to the field mounted on ruggedly constructed, all-terrain armoured ground bikes and scramblers. Used for scouting missions as well as rapid entrenchment and hit-and-run attacks behind enemy lines, the chief advantage of the Outriders is speed; their bikes enabling them to cover ground far quicker than infantry and go where heavier vehicles cannot.

Fast Attack

Sky Hunters are feared strike units which use sophisticated and powerful Jetbikes as mounts. These grav-impeller assisted jet engine propelled craft are more akin to compact aircraft than ground bikes and are able to maintain great speeds for extended periods of low altitude flight. Their life span is sufficient not only to carry a heavily armoured Space Marine but also carry a variety of heavy weapons mounts and stocks of ammunition giving the Sky Hunters extremely potent firepower. The Jetbike patterns in service with the Space Marine Legions are modifications of designs which considerably predate the Imperium and given the materials required to make and maintain them (such as the iridium calcite alloys needed to fabricate the hyper-efficient suspensor/repulsion plates required for flight), demand for them by the Legions has always outstripped supply.
Fast Attack

A relatively recent addition to the armourof the Great Crusade, the Primaris-Lightning Strike Fighter is a high-speed sub-orbital fighter craft, designed for high-speed interception, interdiction and surgical-strike roles. Created by the Archmagos-Arbiter Sykosk Thule, master of the sovereign Forge World of Voss, the Primaris-Lightning represented a new paradigm in aero-warcraft, being built around a powerful forced-plasma ramjet drive and optimised for the most sophisticated munitions and avionic systems available.

While exceeding all similar patterns in service of its size for speed and payload capacity, it was extremely costly to produce, proved difficult to maintain and difficult to handle by all but the most experienced pilots—flaws Sykosk attributed purely to the failure of weak flesh. These factors, however, saw the pattern's issue limited to the elite, close-support units of the most well-resourced Legions and the Mechanicum itself; and while a degraded—if more easy to operate and maintain—version of the Lightning was rumoured to be under consideration just prior to the outbreak of the Horus Heresy, this reduced pattern paid no part in the conflict.

Options

- The Primaris-Lightning is equipped with three dual hardpoint mounts, each of which can be equipped with one of the following payload options at the cost listed:
  - Twin-linked autocannon
  - Twin-linked multilaser
  - Twin-linked missile launcher (equipped with frag and krak)
  - Two Sunfury heavy missiles
  - Two Kraken penetrator heavy missiles
  - Phosphor bomb cluster
  - Two electromagnetic storm charges

- The Primaris-Lightning may be equipped with any of the following:
  - Battle Servitor Control
  - Ground-tracking Augurites
  - Ramjet Diffraction Grid

Special Ordinance: Rad Missiles

If the Primaris-Lightning is equipped with one or more twin-linked missile launchers, these may be upgraded to further carry rad missiles for +15 points per twin-linked launcher.
Ramjet Diffraction Grid
Using similar technology to the flare shield, this system channels the plasma heat and radiated waste of the Primaris-Lightning's powerful engines into a scattering superheated plasma field in the aircraft's wake, leaving a fiery, comet-like trail. This reduces the Strength value of incoming shooting attacks from its side and rear arcs by 1, but means the model cannot benefit from cover saves thanks to Night Fighting.

Ground-tracking Auguries
A Flyer equipped with this system gains the Strafing Run special rule.

Deadly Cargo: If the Flyer carrying unused weapons with this rule takes hull damage but is not destroyed, roll a D6. On the result of a 6, the flyer suffers an Exploded result on the Vehicle Damage chart.

Battle Servitor Control: A Primaris-Lightning may replace their human crew with hard-wired servitor control and dedicated co-axial targeting arrays, designed to identify and target weak spots on enemy vehicles. This upgrade gives the Primaris-Lightning the Tank Hunters special rule.

Primaris-Lightning Weapons
The Primaris-Lightning was specifically intended to operate some of the most advanced and savage munitions in the arsenal of the Inter Great Crusade era – sometimes unstable weapons of baleful design and born of the darkest arts of the Mechanicum's priests of the machine.

Options
- Any Sentry Gun in the battery may exchange its twin-linked heavy bolters for:
  - Twin-linked heavy flamers
  - Two twin-linked rotor cannon
  - Twin-linked lascannon +10 points per model
  - Multi-melta and searchlight +5 points per model
- The entire Sentry Gun Battery may exchange their twin-linked heavy bolters for:
  - Hyperios air-defence missile launcher +20 points per model
  - Any Sentry Gun equipped with a Hyperios air-defence missile launcher may exchange it for:
    - Hyperios command platform +10 points per model
    - The entire battery may be upgraded to have one of the following:
      - Concealment +10 points per model
      - Forward Deployment +5 points per model

* A unit of Sentry Guns with Hyperios missile launchers or Hyperios command platforms does not have the Firing Modes special rule.

Deployment
- Forward Deployment: The Sentry Gun Battery has the Scout special rule (note that it still may not be deployed from reserve).
- Concealment: The Sentry Gun Battery has the Shrouded special rule until the first time it fires its weapons, afterwards the effects of this rule no longer apply.

Firing Modes
- A Sentry Gun can fire in one of two ways and the controlling player must decide which mode it will be set up in before the start of the game. They cannot change its mode once it has been decided, it remains in that mode for the rest of the game.
  - Point Defence Mode: The Sentry Gun is set up with a fixed firing arc. In this mode the gun will engage enemy targets up to 36˚ away which are in a fixed 90˚ arc to its front.
  - Sentry Mode: The Sentry Gun is programmed for close defence and may target enemy models within 18˚ to which it can draw line of sight and can fire all around itself.

Targeting:
- Which enemy unit within range is the Sentry Guns preferred target is determined by its armament. If no preferred target exists in its line of sight, it will simply attack the nearest enemy target in range
  - A heavy bolter, heavy flamers or rotor cannon-equipped Sentry Gun will fire at the nearest enemy non-Vehicle target according to its firing mode.
  - A lascannon or multi-melta equipped Sentry Gun will fire at the nearest enemy Vehicle or Monstrous Creature according to its firing mode (note that immobilised vehicles still count as viable targets, only wrecked vehicles will be ignored).

Note that this means while a preferred target type is within range, it is possible for a unit of differently armed Sentry Guns to fire at two separate targets.

Access Points

Drop Pod Assault

A Dreadclaw, and any unit it transports, must always be held in reserve and always enters play using the Deep Strike rules, and counts as a Drop Pod for the wider use of the Drop Pod Assault rule for the army. At the beginning of the controlling player’s first player turn, they must choose half of their Drop Pod units (rounding up) to make a Drop Pod Assault. These units arrive on their controlling player’s first player turn. The arrival of the remaining Drop Pods in the player’s force is rolled for as usual for the mission. A unit that Deep Strikes via Drop Pod may not assault in the turn it arrives. In the case of the Dreadclaw, unlike other Drop Pods it is not immobile, however, after it has landed, it is treated as a Flyer with Hover mode (which starts off as hovering after it has arrived via Deep Strike).

Heat Blast

Certain boarding Assault Claws and Drop Pods are fitted with cyclic thermal jets and melt cutters designed to burn their way into the armoured hulls of ships. The Astartes quickly learned they could also use these systems as a limited form of offensive weaponry, dispersing their blasts to incinerate anything nearby on landing, or in more extreme cases, even scorch a swathe across the battlefield using dangerous low-level flying attacks.

When a model with this rule arrives via Deep Strike, or later when operating as a skimmer in Hover mode, it may if its controlling player wishes inflict a Heat Blast attack. If it does so, then models it is transporting may not disembark or embark on the turn this attack is used.

Heat Blast (Deep Strike): Immediately after the model deploys using the Deep Strike rule, measure a radius of 3 horizontally outward from its main hull (do not count any landing struts, etc). All models caught in the blast suffer a Str 6 AP 5 hit with no cover saves. Vehicles are struck on their weakest Armour value. This is counted as a flamer-based attack.

Heat Blast (Fire Sweep): If the controlling player wishes, any unit the model passes directly over (i.e., falls directly under its hull during its Movement phase) suffers a 6 AP 5 hit with no cover saves. Vehicles are struck on their weakest Armour value. This is counted as a flamer-based attack. Hits from this attack are distributed across a unit as the player suffering the attack wishes. Roll a D6 each time this attack is inflicted. On a result of 1, the Drop Pod itself suffers a penetrating hit.

FAST ATTACK

The Anvillus Pattern Dreadclaw Drop Pod was initially designed to insert Legion Space Marine boarding forces onto enemy void-craft in the midst of battle. As such, they have a minimal profile and a heavily armoured hull designed to survive fire from smaller-ship-based close defence weaponry, while a series of melt cutters allow it to slice through a ship’s outer hull and deliver its cargo into the heart of a vessel.

Unlike some earlier boarding craft, which were incapable of returning their cargo to friendly ships, the Dreadclaw is also fully capable of operating as an independent dropship. Indeed, many Legions favour using the Dreadclaw in this role instead of the more common Storm Eagle, dropping from the sky like a flaming comet and employing the craft’s thermal jets and melt cutters to scorch the landing zone clean before disembarking the assault troops contained within. Though lacking in any subtlety or elegance, this tactic is undeniably effective, and many crews have developed a dark notoriety for their skill at reckless low-altitude striking runs, leaving great swathes of the enemy’s lines aghast with each pass.

Anvillus Pattern Dreadclaw Drop Pods may be purchased individually as a stand-alone Fast Attack choice for a Space Marine Legion Crusade army, and as Dedicated Transports for any Terminator armed-equipped unit of five models or less, including Terminator armed-equipped Command squads. In the case of the Orbital Assault Rule of War (see page 15), they may be used as Dedicated Transports for Contemptor Dreadnoughts as well as the previous provisions being in effect.

  - Heavy bolter
  - Plasma cannon
  - Graviton gun

- Any Land Speeder may take:
  - Up to two Hunter-killer missiles

Mainstays of most Space Marine Legion armories, Land Speeders are high-speed reconnaissance and rapid attack skimmers that utilize anti-gravity technology to achieve extraordinary battlefield mobility and speed. As lightly armoured two-man craft, they require the kind of skill and reflexes to operate at peak performance that only a Space Marine can bring to bear, and rely more on their extreme manoeuvrability and speed for survival than durability. Land Speeder squadrons provide a Space Marine force with a flexible core of rapidly deployable firepower and make for highly able rank-hunters and close air support units. As a result, mixed formations of Land Speeders are often called upon to operate as a rapid reaction force, held in reserve to quickly intercept enemy counter-attacks. Striking fast and hard, they are particularly apt to fight delaying actions while the rest of a Space Marine force moves into attack positions or redeploy and are able to use their speed to retreat successfully if needed from the very teeth of a foe.

Vengeance Launcher

The Vengeance Launcher is a multi-chambered rocket battery which saturates a target area with fragmenting anti-personnel warheads. Designed for close-range ground-attack, this weapon allows the Storm Eagle to both clear a landing zone in a hostile area and continue to provide direct fire support once it has delivered its deadly cargo of Space Marines.

EAST ATTACK

The Storm Eagle Assault Gunship is one of the most numerous designs found in a Space Marine Legion fleet. A dedicated tactical strike unit, its primary role is orbital assault deployment of Legion infantry forces and low-level ground attack. The Storm Eagle is a rugged and durable machine, very heavily armed for its size and considerably protected by armament plating, although it lacks the speed and manoeuvrability of true fighter and bomber. In operational use it proved itself an extremely flexible vehicle serving capably as a long-range transport, orbital shuttle, scout, and interceptor when called upon to do so in addition to its main battlefield roles.

First constructed on Terra over the course of the Great Crusade, principal manufacturing of the Storm Eagle shifted to the Forge Worlds of Annullus, Galatea and Tigris whose vast output was sufficient to provide all the Space Marine Legions and the Custodian Guard with extensive squadrons of these well-regarded and adaptable craft.

  - Any Javelin Attack Speeder may be equipped with any of the following upgrades:
    - Searchlight — +1 point each
    - Up to two hunter-killer missiles — +5 points each

EAST ATTACK

Javelin attack speeders share many of the advanced systems found in the jet bikes of the Legiones Astartes Sky Hunter strike squadrons, and as such are both rare and highly valued. Utilising a range of anti-grav impellar technologies so esoteric that some amongst the Mechanicum regard them with overt distrust, Javelin attack speeders are time-consuming to construct and difficult to repair should they sustain battle damage. Nevertheless, they are fast, highly manoeuvrable, have an extended operational range and, perhaps most importantly, are able to carry a heavy payload of weapon systems. All of these characteristics ensure that these rare attack vehicles remain in high demand amongst the Legiones Astartes, as well other elite formations such as the Legio Custodes and the Sisters of Silence.

Area Denial

Any successful Morale checks or Pinning tests caused by a Deathstorm Drop Pod on the turn it deploys must be re-rolled.

Inertial Guidance System

Should a Drop Pod scatter on top of impassable terrain or another model, then reduce the scatter distance by the minimum required to avoid the obstacle. Note that the Deathstorm pattern Dreadnought Drop Pod is considerably larger than the more common Drop Pod and so will need a larger space in which to land successfully.

Independent Machine-spirits

Deathstorm Drop Pods may target different enemy units with each of their weapons.

HEAVY SUPPORT

Deathstorm drop pods were first conceived and prototyped by the Raven Guard Legion, who sought to augment the firepower of their precision-orbital assaults. The Raven Guard's preference for such surgical-strike tactics would, upon occasion, leave them at a disadvantage in the case of both protracted engagements and in assaulting very heavily fortified targets where heavy units such as Titan tanks and artillery could not be used.

This opened the Legion up to levels of casualties during some successful drop pod assaults that their Primarch Corax would not countenance. The Raven Guard's solution spoke much to their own nature and preferred tactics - a weapon that would strike with merciless swiftness and expend its force in a lethal fury that left little need for prolonged endurance.

Built around a standard drop pod chassis, the Deathstorm pattern uses rapid-firing missile launchers to blast an area in a massive volley of fire upon landing, clearing the way for the Space Marines to assault in their wake. The machine-spirit targeted weapons of the Deathstorm will then continue to sweep the landing zone and provide fire support, although at much reduced firepower, the bulk of their ammunition already expended on their arrival.

HEAVY SUPPORT

The Predator is perhaps the best known and most widespread variant of the basic Rhino chassis, equipped with superior armour protection and firepower, but sacrificing the Rhino's troop transport capacity entirely. The Predator is an effective and versatile medium tank, with a good balance of speed, firepower and protection and whose robust design can field a wide variety of armament configurations, with the standard and by far most common being a rapid-firing turret-mounted autocannon. The Predator can also be fielded either with or without additional external sponson-mounted weaponry, with each sponson either mounting a single heavy bolter, heavy flamers or lascannon as part of a modular unit. The type of sponson weaponry fitted often reflects the expected conditions of threat within a given theatre, where heavy infantry resistance is predicted (such as in battle against the Orks for example), heavy bolters are most favoured, while lascannon are equipped where armoured vehicles are expected to predominate the opponent's forces.

Heavy Support

The Land Raider is regarded by many as the finer armoured fighting vehicle of its class in the Imperium's arsenal—if not the galaxy, and the mainstay battle tank of the Space Marine Legions. It is a phenomenally powerful war machine; its multilayered composite armour and reinforced hull is all but impervious even to heavy weapons, and it has no truly vulnerable areas, being a sealed unit designed to resist enemy attack from any approach. Intended to serve in almost any environment as war machine and exploration vehicle, the Land Raider can operate freely in war zones ranging from acid swamps to red deserts to arctic wastes without any noticeable impediment to its performance, and can even operate underwater and in hard vacuum, ensuring that there is no open battlefield on which its armoured wrath cannot be unleashed. The Land Raider is a masterpiece that heralds back to the might of Mankind during the lost High Dark Age of Technology, and since the rediscovery of its STC in the vaults of Mars several patterns have been established in widespread use, varying the balance of the Land Raider's battlefield role from armoured explorer, to assault tank, to command and control vehicle, but all maintain the core components of its established form and function.
Options (all)
- Any Land Raider may take any of the following (if not already so equipped):
  - Hunter-killer missile: +10 points per model
  - Dozer blade: +5 points per model
  - Auxiliary drive: +10 points per model

Additional Options (Land Raider Proteus)
- Any model may be further armed with one of the following hull-mounted weapons:
  - Twin-linked heavy bolter: +20 points per model
  - Twin-linked heavy flamer: +20 points per model
- Any model may be upgraded to be equipped with:
  - Explorer Augury Web: +50 points per model

Additional Options (Land Raider Achilles)
- None

Explorer Augury Web
The sophisticated scanners and cognis-interpreters built into the structure of the Proteus are all but unreplaceable devices that likely far pre-date the Age of the Imperium. When under the control of an experienced Techmarine these augurs can be used in conjunction with Legion command to scan enemy positions in extraordinary detail, allowing enemy movements to be thwarted or reinforcements to be called in with uncanny accuracy.

A Land Raider Proteus with an Explorer Augury Web gains the Scout special rule.

While a Proteus with this upgrade is on the table, at the start of any of the controlling player’s turn, before any Reserve rolls are made, they may declare that the Proteus’ auguries are being used in Disruption or Relay modes, their effect lasting until their next player turn.

- Disruption Mode: The opposing force suffers -1 to their Reserve rolls.
- Relay Mode: The owning player’s Reserve rolls may be re-rolled (whether failed or successful) if they wish.

Note that the presence of multiple Explorer Augury Web-equipped Proteus have no additional effect and only one mode may be chosen a turn.

If a Land Raider Proteus is fitted with an Explorer Augury Web, its transport capacity is reduced to 8.

Ferromantic Invulnerability
The hull of the Achilles has been specially constructed to resist even the most determined assault and is almost preternaturally resilient. As a result, the Land Raider Achilles is not subject to the particular effects of the Lance and Melts’ special rules by attacks made against it. In addition it reduces the effects of all rolls on the Vehicle Damage chart caused by Penetrating hits (other than by Destroyer type weaponry) by -1.

The Fire Raptor is equipped with two waist-mounted rapid tracking turrets capable of fully independent operation. So long as the Fire Raptor is eligible to fire a weapon in the Shooting phase, each waist turret may fire at a target of its own and its weapons do not count towards the number of weapons the Gunship may fire each turn.

Fire Raptor Weapons
The Fire Raptor Gunship carries vast firepower for a vehicle of its size. Mounting heavy anti-personnel and anti-materiel weaponry, the Fire Raptor forgoes the Storm Eagle's transport capacity for a reinforced airframe and substantial ammunition capacity to feed the hunger of its guns.

HEAVY SUPPORT
A variant of the Storm Eagle, the Fire Raptor gunship was created with the aim of providing overwhelming aerial firepower to Legiones Astartes assault forces. These relentless craft can reduce any attacking force to ruin in a devastating rain of bolt shells and high explosive rockets, and are in use amongst virtually every one of the Legions.

In addition to twin nose-mounted Avenger bolt cannon and an array of rockets or missiles, the Fire Raptor replaces the capacious transport bay of the Storm Eagle with ammunition and targeting coptitors for two independent hull-turrets. Each of these sophisticated turrets is equipped with a gyroscopic array and crewed by a dedicated Space Marine gunner, allowing each to strike separate targets with pinpoint precision even while the gunship moves at flank speed.

The Fire Raptor first gained renown during the many campaigns against the Orks that infest many of the systems now claimed by the Emperor. The ferocious firepower of these craft proved pivotal in many engagements against the overwhelming numbers of Orks encountered on many worlds, reducing wave after wave of Ork warriors to bloody ruin.

In addition, it reduces the effects of all rolls on the Vehicle Damage chart caused by Penetrating hits (other than by Destroyer weapons) by -1. Note that this reduction is applied to any AP value that would first add to this roll rather than the final result where this is appropriate. So, for example, an AP 1 attack which would usually gain a +2 modifier to the damage roll, instead would only gain a +1, etc.

Galvanic Traction Drive
The Achilles-Alpha must re-roll failed Dangerous Terrain tests.

Heavy Support
The Achilles-Alpha pattern Land Raider is the most durable vehicle currently in service with the Legiones Astartes. These vehicles shrug off weapon strikes that would cripple even such titanic weapons of war as the mighty Fellblade, and are proof against even the most toxic environment. The weaponry of these vehicles is no less impressive, each being armed with a quad mortar topped with exacting precision and capable of launching shatter shells as well as the more common frag shells. Those Legions that maintain Achilles-Alpha pattern Land Raiders utilise them as the spearpoint of any assault under fire, trusting the vehicle's near-impeccable armour and punishing weapons array to break any defensive position.

Each Achilles-Alpha is assembled under the direct oversight of a Forge World's Macro-tek Magos, and is the result of months of painstaking labour and so costly are they to produce that no Legion fields more than a handful of such vehicles. The more common Achilles pattern Land Raiders is derived from the design of these mighty engines of war—a lesser copy that can be reproduced with the expenditure of fewer resources, but possesses only a fraction of the original's might.
HEAVY SUPPORT

As cohesive fighting forces able to operate and conquer in any theatre of war, the Space Marine Legions maintain their own mobile heavy artillery units, although to nowhere near the extent that the hosts of the Imperial Army do in terms of numbers. This is in no small part due to the fact that static warfare does not suit the character or indeed the strengths and advantages of the Space Marines themselves, although there are those whose extensive practice of siege-craft such as the Imperial Fists and Iron Warriors lends them more reliance and trust in the ‘big guns’. The most common artillery vehicles employed are the relatively light and mobile Whirlwind multiple-missile launcher tank, which has the advantage of being based on the Rhino chassis and therefore easy to repair and support; the long-range cannon-armed Basilisk, excellent both for protracted bombardments and as a defensive weapon against enemy armour; and the heavy Medusa which carries a short ranged but extremely powerful siege-mortar.

  - Havoc Launcher +15 points per model

HEAVY SUPPORT

A powerful assault tank, the Vindicator's principal armament is a heavy-calibre demolisher cannon capable of shattering fortifications and breaching the armour plate of tanks with equal ease. Although the cannon is short ranged, it is only able to carry a limited supply of its rocket-assisted shells and lacks the flexibility of a turreted weapon, the Vindicator is invaluable, given the task of attacking a heavily fortified position or operating in city-fighting conditions. It can blast and shunt its way through barricades and obstacles. Often deployed in close support of infantry squads, the Vindicator's heavily reinforced armour and low hull profile increases its survivability. This endurance and firepower offers the supporting Space Marines the equivalent of a mobile strongpoint allowing them to better advance against heavy fire. A relative rarity, some Space Marine Legions, such as the Sons of Horus and the Iron Hands, make wider use of the Vindicator employing the tank as a main battle line vehicle, using them in spearhead formations. In this way they attempt to overcome any disadvantages the Vindicator has through relentlessly closing with the enemy wherever they can.

HEAVY SUPPORT

An armoured assault transport of truly massive proportions, the Spartan is a heavy tank whose use is unique to the Space Marine Legions and the Mechanicum, and whose design bears clear connections of lineage to that of the Land Raider. The Spartan is a huge armoured conveyer whose purpose is to carry a large contingent of troops into the heart of the enemy, weathering fire that would be the death of any lesser vehicle. Although its armoured and sealed shell is as legendarily durable as that of a Land Raider, the genius of its design is such that the greater proportion of its interior space is given over to its carrying capacity, which is greater than any save the super-heavy transporters such as the Gorgon favored by the Imperial Army, while being considerably faster on the battlefield thanks to its reactor-driven motive drives. Its armament is nevertheless still fierce, featuring sponson-mounted quad lascannon making it an agile tank destroyer and secondary armaments of defensively mounted heavy bolters or heavy flamers enabling it to sweep infantry from its path. The Spartan takes pride of place in the armories of many Legions, although its size and the scale of materials required to produce it—which exceeds that of most super-heavy tanks—makes it far less common than the Land Raider in operations.

  - Two wing-mounted missile launchers (Frag & krak missiles) +10 points

Caestus Ram
The vessel is purpose built to survive smashing into a heavily armoured structure, and its forward prow is augmented with field generators. When conducting a ram attack, the Caestus' controlling player can roll two dice and pick the higher number when determining if it has penetrated the target's armour and add +1 to any rolls on the Vehicle Damage chart that it uses.

In addition, the Caestus has an invulnerable save of 6+ against any attacks against its front armour, including any damage it suffers as a result of carrying out a ram or being rammed itself from the front.

Misercore
The ram's two hull booms contain heavily armoured compartments, each fitted with multiple inertial suppression clamps which lock transported troops in place and protect them from impact. As a result the Caestus Assault Ram has a transport capacity of 10 models, but may only transport models in power armour, artificer armour or Terminator armour (the latter of which do not count as having the Bulky rule in this specific instance).

HEAVY SUPPORT

Assault rams are attack craft intended to participate in close-range boarding actions in space and also to act in a secondary role as drop-assault vessels for direct orbital attack. Smaller in size and displacement than many gunships, the Caestus pattern Assault Ram is a densely constructed shield-augmented block of armour designed to effect a boarding by burning and smashing its way through an enemy ship. The revelations brought on by the discoveries of Arkhan Land enabled the augmentation of the venerable design, allowing it to be used in high velocity direct orbital attacks, as well as operate as a heavy battle skimmer in support of ground operations when called on to do so. As an assault ram the Caestus is designed and outfitted with a highly armoured forward superstructure bathed in inertial and recoil compensation systems specifically built to allow the vehicle to crash into its target, creating a breach into which its complement of Space Marines can immediately advance. Its main armament is similarly direct, with a recessed forward firing cannon which is intended to weaken the hull armour of a target space craft, also providing it with a devastating close-range weapon against enemy tanks and bunkers in ground operations.
The Sicaran Venator is a variant of the Sicaran battle tank which saw extensive use in the opening battles of the Horus Heresy. The Sicaran Venator replaced the turret-mounted accelerator cannon of the Sicaran with a powerful neutron laser. When coupled with the Sicaran Venator’s ferocious speed, the neutron laser is an ideal anti-tank weapon, slicing apart armoured hulls with casual ease and blasting internal compartments and crew with atomic fire.

Conceived in the fires of war, the Sicaran Venator is the result of all the knowledge gleaned from the unnumbered battles of the Great Crusade. Its advanced neutron laser is specially designed to provide the Legioners Astartes with superior firepower, enabling it to destroy any and all xenos threats that might be encountered by the expanding armies of the nascent Imperium.

At the time Horus began his rebellion on the black fields of Sisitan V, the Sicaran Venator had only just entered full production and only limited numbers had been inducted into the various Legions. Despite the relative rarity of these vehicles, their combination of durability, speed and firepower ensured that they proved pivotal in a number of battles, surviving where lesser Predator or Vindicator tanks did not.

Neutron Beam Laser

One of the most powerful weapons mounted on any Imperial vehicle of its class, the Hadynx pattern neutron beam laser was a more compact and sophisticated variant of the arcane neutron laser array found mounted on the far larger Cerberus Heavy Tank Destroyer. While lacking the sheer damage output of the Cerberus system, its shorter-focused, densely collimated beam at last dealt with the risks of dangerous feedback that had plagued that weapon system. This advance was only made possible by the Archmagos Jun Hadynx of Phaenon in the closing decade of the Great Crusade, and along with the life of the savant genius that created it, the secret of the weapon’s construction would be lost in the bitter years of war to follow.

The powerful reactor containment vessels needed to power the Sicaran Venator’s primary weapon confer considerable risk of catastrophic explosion should the tank’s armour be severely breached. If an enemy unit inflicts a Penetrating hit on the Sicaran Venator, then they may re-roll results of a 1 on the Vehicle Damage table against it. In addition, should it suffer an Explodes! result, add +D3 to the explosion’s radius.

Accelerator Autocannon
The accelerator autocannon is a sophisticated weapon which fires a hail of medium-calibre high velocity shells with great accuracy. Its bursts of cannon fire can rip through heavy armour with repeated shell impacts or strafe rapidly moving targets with devastating effect.

Heavy Support

One of the most advanced armoured units in the arsenal of the Great Crusade, the Sicaran battle tank was the exclusive province of the Space Marine Legions. Its introduction was on-going at the outbreak of the Horus Heresy, and the Warmaster ensured that many examples of this new tank found their way into the armories of those Legions that would side with him before the outbreak of the civil war.

Designed in concert between the Primarchs Ferrus Manus and Roboute Guilliman, alongside the Magos of the Mechanicum Tempora Serp, the Sicaran utilises component technologies from various STC patterns such as the Rhino, Land Raider and Hphaestus, to create a high-speed 'destroyer' tank to complement the more commonplace Predator and Land Raider designs.

The primary armament of the main Sicaran variant is the sophisticated Heracles pattern accelerator autocannon. Technologically akin to the heavier calibre ordnance mounted on the Fellblade super-heavy tank, it is a superior rapid-firing and highly accurate weapon. It fires shells at far higher velocities than a standard autocannon, enabling it to successfully track and engage swift moving targets and pinpoint vulnerabilities in enemy armour with lethal precision.
LEGION KHARYBDIS ASSAULT CLAW

HEAVY SUPPORT

Employed by many Legions as their primary ship-to-ship assault craft, the Kharybdis is a monstrous drop pod capable of carrying large assault forces through the void and mounting significant firepower to blast a path through defending small craft. The arrival of a flight of these ominous craft, boarding hooks extended as they approach their target, signals the end for the crew of any vessel that dares oppose the Legion’s Astartes.

As a fully operational dropship, Kharybdis assault claws also serve as surface-to-orbit transports, a role that allows them to use the firepower of their storm launchers and melt cutters to scour clean their chosen landing zone before disembarking their deadly cargo into the midst of the enemy’s shattered formation. Nor do these craft serve solely as infantry transports; many more aggressive commanders employ the Kharybdis as an effective tank hunter, ramming enemy armour in daring low-altitude attack runs, clamping hold with the Kharybdis’ hook-claws and burning through even the thickest ceramic plating with melt cutters designed to breach the hulls of starships.

Drop Pod Assault
A Kharybdis, and any unit it transports, must always be held in reserve and always enters play using the Deep Strike rules, and counts as a Drop Pod for the wider use of the Drop Pod Assault rule for the army. At the beginning of the controlling player's first player turn, they must choose half of their Drop Pod units (rounding up) to make a Drop Pod Assault. These units arrive on their controlling player's first player turn. The arrival of the remaining Drop Pods in the player's force is rolled for as usual for the mission. A unit who Deep Strikes via Drop Pod may not assault in the turn it arrives. In the case of the Kharybdis, unlike other Drop Pods it is not immobile, however, after it has landed it is treated as a Flyer with Hover mode (which starts as hovering after it has arrived via Deep Strike).

Inertial Guidance System
Should a Kharybdis scatter on top of impassable terrain or another model, then reduce the scatter distance by the minimum required to avoid the obstacle if desired.

Independent Machine Spirits
Kharybdis may target different enemy units with each of their weapons.

Heat Blast
Certain boarding Assault Claws and Drop Pods are fitted with cyclic thermal jets and melt cutters designed to burn their way into the armoured hulls of ships. The Legiones Astartes quickly learned they could also use these systems as a limited form of defence weaponry, dispersing their blasts to incinerate anything nearby on landing, or in the more extreme cases, even search a swath across the battlefield using dangerous low-level flying attacks.

When a model with this rule arrives via Deep Strike, or later when operating as a skimmer in Hover mode, it may if its controlling player wishes inflict a Heat Blast attack. If it does so, then models it is transporting may not disembark or embark on the turn this attack is used.

Heat Blast (Deep Strike): Immediately after the model lands, measure a radius of 3" + DV horizontally outwards from its main hull (do not count any landing stress, etc). All models caught in the blast suffer a Str 6 AP 5 hit with no cover saves. Vehicles are struck on their weakest Armour value. This is counted as a flamer-based attack.

Heat Blast (Fire Sweep): If the controlling player wishes, any unit the model passes directly over (i.e., falls directly under its hull during its Movement phase) suffers a Str 5 AP 5 hit, with no cover saves. Vehicles are struck on their weakest Armour value. This is counted as a flamer-based attack. Hits from this attack are distributed across a unit as the player suffering the attack wishes. Roll a D6 each time this attack is inflicted. On a result of 6, the Drop Pod itself suffers a penetrating hit.

Melta-tam
Although a Flyer, the Kharybdis may conduct Ram attacks as if it were a Tank while using Hover mode. It may not, however, Ram other Flyers or make such an attack on any turn in which it arrives from reserve. It also may not conduct a Ram on any turn on which it embarks or disembarks models or uses its Heat Blast attack.

Kharybdis Storm Launcher
These rapid firing missile launchers are designed to provide the Kharybdis with some measure of striking power as it closes with its target and to clear landing zones around the Kharybdis, throwing nearby resistance into disarray as the warriors on board disembark. To this end, the launcher fires clusters of fragmentation and anti-armour warheads, with each launcher controlled independently by on-board augury-arrays.

HEAVY SUPPORT

The term 'Whirlwind' is used amongst the Legiones Astartes to describe a range of vehicle-mounted multiple missile launcher systems, many of which have been recovered during the Great Crusade and are undergoing front line trials with various units. The Scorpius is a pattern that has only recently entered service, having been created at the behest of the Space Wolves Legion to aid in the campaign against the fortified bastion-cities of the xenos Ghastvulian Sub-realms. Fighting alongside Legion Predators, with which it shares many common armour and drive systems, the Scorpions has proven itself well suited to such high-intensity operations and has been approved for service across the entire Legiones Astartes.

Scorpius Multi-launcher

This is a prototype weapons system intended to replace the standard Whirlwind armament which was undergoing battlefield testing at the outbreak of the Horus Heresy. As well as the launcher itself being capable of more rapid fire than its predecessor, the Scorpius' rocket munitions were designed to concentrate their force in a more confined area, greatly increasing their destructive potential.

Plasma blastgun

The majority of plasma blastguns utilised on Legion Stormblades are wrought upon the Forge World of Ryza, a sovereign Mechanicum domain whose lords are known as the undisputed masters of this particular strand of machine lore. When the weapon fires, a roiling, barely contained bolt of raw plasma as bright as a sun is unleashed. All but the strongest of armour is reduced to slag by such an attack and it can defeat even Titan grade void shields with relative ease.

Command Tank

If the vehicle is upgraded to a Command tank, all allied units within 25" of the Stormblade may re-roll failed Morale checks.

Lords of War

The Legion Stormblade is a variant of the Imperial Army super-heavy tank constructed on the Forge World of Lucius and equipped with a mighty plasma blastgun. This weapon occupies a tactical niche between the much heavier turbobolter destructor carried on the Shadow sword and similar, but lighter weapons carried on smaller vehicles. The plasma blastgun is simpler to maintain and supply than the turbolaser, giving the tank an extended operational range and its Space Marine crew are a lot more resistant to the heat and radiation generated by its enormous reactor array than the crews of Imperial Army Stormblades.

The majority of Legions maintain a stock of Stormblades amongst their super-heavy tank formations, though some only utilise them as Legion reserves and do not commit them to the line as a matter of course. The Iron Warriors and the Iron Hands have both been known to utilise armoured vanguards comprising Stormblades, often flanked by Predators and, more recently, Sicaran.

Feedback

If a weapon with this type fails its Penetration roll against a target vehicle’s armour, or fails a To Wound roll against a target model (note that successful armour saves do not count for this) roll a D6. If the result is a 5, dangerous energy feedback along the beam causes the firing model to lose 1 Hull Point or wound.

Shock Pulse

Any vehicle (including Super-heavy vehicles) that suffers a Penetrating hit from a weapon with this type may only fire Snap Shots in the following game turn.

Lords of War

An experimental variant based upon the Spartan chassis, the Mechanicum used the Spartan's internal capacity to mount a prototype Neutron Laser Projector and the stable Atomspheric-arc reactors and radiation-shielding needed to operate the weapon. The weapon technology itself had been retro-engineered from Dark Age battlefield wreckage recovered at great cost on the forbidden sphere of Deep Hyades VI by Mechanicum Explorators out of Galatea, and some controversy was evident about both its provenance and safety for wider dissemination by the Mechanicum. Despite its instability, the Neutron laser offered a potential rival weapon to the more common Turbo-laser systems found on Titans and the Shadow sword super-heavy tank destroyer, which was both more compact in size and possessed of enhanced ability to inflict collateral damage. Shortly before the outbreak of the Heresy war, preliminary detachments of the Cerberus had been delivered into the service of a number of Space Marine Legions for comprehensive battlefield testing and trial, and were soon pressed to turn their own destructive power against the Imperium's own war machines, rather than that of the alien.

Dreadhammer Siege Cannon
The Dreadhammer is a huge siege weapon, modified from the kind of static weaponry usually deployed to slowly pound cities and gargantuan fortresses to dust. The kinetic blast wave produced by the multi-tonne shells it fires alone is enough to liquify flesh and bone, and the most well-protected bunker provides little defence for those within.

Crushing Weight
A Super-heavy vehicle with this special rule adds +1 to all rolls on the Thunderblitz table when making a Ram or Tank Shock attack.

LORDS OF WAR

Named for the 'Great Beast' of Terran myth, this siege tank was developed by the Maritan Mechanicum simultaneously with the Spartan, with which it shares a basic hull, armour and chassis design. The Typhon is a mobile gun-platform of prodigious strength and carrying capacity designed to operate a single massive piece of siege artillery—the Dreadhammer cannon. This design itself was created in response to a request from the Primarch Petruku of the Iron Warriors and also with his direct involvement, who demanded a war engine capable for the Space Marine Legions that could rapidly deploy such fortress-breaking firepower to the battle line at speeds greater than the slow crawl of the Imperial Army's heavy batteries—the Typhon was the result. Many observers have labelled it as little more than an up-scaled Vindicato, in design, and while it may seem inefficient in some ways this may be true few can deny its utterly brutal effectiveness in action.
The Falchion utilises a potent weapon combining technologies used in the Fellblades and the Shadowsword super-heavy tank. The Falchion’s twin-mounted Volcano cannon is one of the most powerful vehicle-mounted, anti-tank weapons in the Imperium’s arsenal and it requires such an investment in resources to construct that its use is limited to the Legiones Astari. Even then, the Falchion is so rare that most Legions maintain but a handful reserved for use against the largest of enemy war machines.

The Falchion was developed long before the outbreak of the Horus Heresy and as such its prey was not the enemy Titans it would later see such extensive combat against. As the Great Crusade expanded ever outward, the Expeditionary fleets encountered a staggering array of foes, some of whom were of a truly gargantuan scale. The formless overlord beings of the Psion Reach were so massive they could crush entire armies with their bulk, but they were set to ravingen flame by the touch of the Ultramarines’ Falchions’ Volcanos. When the gravity-defying mountain-fortresses of the Thulos Deeps rejected Compliance, a company of Iron Hands’ Falchions burned them and their occupants from the skies, scattering all to rubble such that no stone was left standing upon another.

Volcano Cannon
The Volcano cannon (so named, it is generally thought, given its tendency to turn rock and stone into spaying magma where it strikes) is an apocalyptically powerful laser weapon designed to level the most reinforced fortification and deal fatal blows to the most colossal of enemy war machines. For all its firepower however, the Volcano cannon is an inflexible and maintenance-intensive weapon whose sheer size consumes much of the Falchion’s bulk as it does the Shadowsword of the Imperial Auxilia which also fields this weapon as its main armament.

Heavy Beam: When the weapon is fired, draw a line from the end of the gun barrel up to the listed range of the weapon and 1" wide. The initial target for the weapon (the first model in the beam's path) must be an enemy model.

- All models (friends and enemies) caught in the beam area (excepting the firing tank) suffer a hit with the listed profile of the weapon, except Zooming Flyers, Sweeping Monstrous creatures, and flying Gargantuan Creatures that cannot be affected or targeted.
- Units struck receive a number of hits equal to the number of their models caught in the path of the beam. Casualties are removed from affected units using the normal rules for removing casualties.
- If the beam strikes a Super-heavy vehicle, Gargantuan Creature or large intact building/fortification (basing sized or larger), the attack is blocked and its line of effect will go no further. The blocking target will, however, suffer 1 D3 separate hits, rather than just 1.
- If a vehicle transporting models suffers a penetrating hit from the Volkite Carronade, the occupants inside suffer D6 Str +3 AP hits with the Deflagrate rule, in addition to any other effects. Casualties are assigned by the controlling player.

Lords of War

The Glaive or Fellglaive as it is sometimes known, is a super-heavy tank pattern related to the Fellblade, but beyond the obvious surface similarities the two tanks are very different. The reason for this divergence lies with the Glaive's primary weapon system, the Fellblade and arcane Volkite Carronade. A device of the Mechanicum whose design is said to originate on Mars in the wars of the Age of Strife, it was not without some ceremony that the Forge Lords agreed to the Emperor's demand for a Legion tank to be created that utilised this weapon. The need however was great, and the Glaive was first deployed against the apex exo-chthon codified as the Catach Dablam which had proved such a thorn in the Great Crusades side. Later the Glaive proved its worth both against the Ork hordes and the stranger xenos monstrosities encountered as the Emperor's crusading armies penetrated the murderous zones surrounding the galactic core.

The effort of constructing practicable numbers of super-heavy tanks around the Volkite Carronade is considered well worth the staggering expenditure in resources required, for multiple targets and even the largest of xenos abominations are struck down by its ravining beam before even a portion of its energy is dissipated.

Transport Capacity
- The Thunderhawk Transporter has a transport capacity of 15 models.
- The Thunderhawk Transporter may additionally carry two Rhino-sized vehicles, or one Land Raider-sized vehicle. These vehicles may contain passengers.

Loading Vehicles
An empty Thunderhawk Transporter can pick up a stationary vehicle by moving over it whilst in Hover mode. The vehicle cannot have moved this turn. Next turn, the Transporter can move again, taking the vehicle with it.

Unloading Vehicles
Vehicles can disembark from the Transporter very quickly. If it lands (i.e., doesn't move in a turn whilst in Hover mode), then the vehicles carried on board may move as normal.

You can elect to have the Thunderhawk drop one Heavy Bomb Cluster per bombing run. The Thunderhawk has enough bombs to do this three times over the course of a game.

Void-crafted Hull
Once the Thunderhawk went into mass production during the Horus Heresy to replace lost stockpiles of the larger multi-role Stormbird craft, it was realised that more heavily constructed variants were required for the rigours of prolonged void operations. A Thunderhawk with this upgrade increases its Rear Armour value to 12.
FORTIFICATION

Consisting of a system of interlocking modular fortifications, the Castellum Stronghold is a Space Marine tactical fortification intended for front line use. Deployed from orbit by landing craft, it can be swiftly configured and assembled even under heavy fire. The individual components are deployed in drop cradles clad in ablative armour, the remnants of which are jetisoned at the moment the sections are landed, revealing a fully operational stronghold.

Such is the skill of the Legion of Astartes that in battle conditions this might take as little as 30 minutes, while the most adept at such operations, in particular the Iron Warriors and the Imperial Fists Legions, take great pride in reducing this timeframe even further.

Castellum Strongholds are generally deployed for short lived but high intensity operations where the Space Marines must establish a heavily fortified base in highly contested war zones. In such conditions it can serve as a firebase, artillery redoubt, defensive stronghold, or platform from which they can launch immediate offensive actions. It is not an unknown tactic for a Castellum Stronghold to be dropped deep behind enemy lines during an on-going battle, sowing confusion and forcing a foe to turn back on themselves to stop their deployments from being destroyed from within.

IMPERIAL CASTELLUM STRONGHOLD

Composition
- 1 Castellum Stronghold consisting of a main Bunker and three Bunker Annexes.

Terrain type
- Multiple-part building with Barrellments. This comprises a single Space Marine Castellum Stronghold Realm of Battle. The Stronghold consists of an open Deck Area, a main Tacticus Bunker (Large Building, Armour value 14) and three Bunker Annexes (Medium Buildings, Armour value 14).

Wargear
- None

Special Rules
- Shielded Gate Barriers
- Defensive Structure

Access Points & Fire Points
- As per model

Options

The Tacticus Bunker and each of the Bunker Annexes may be equipped with the following emplaced weapons. Emplaced weapons may be used by units within their bunker at that unit's BS value; otherwise they use the Automated Fire rules and are utilised by the Castellum's controlling player. These emplacements may not be targeted separately and are considered destroyed when their Bunker is.

- The Tacticus Bunker has two mounting points and so may take two weapons choices, while the Bunker Annexes have one mounting point and so may take a single weapon choice each of the following:
  - Twin-linked heavy bolter +10 points each
  - Twin-linked heavy flamers +10 points each
  - Twin linked lascannon +20 points each
  - Multi-melta & searchlight +10 points each
  - Hyperios missile launcher +30 points each
  - Whirlwind launcher +35 points each
  - Icarus lascannon +35 points each
  - Quad gun +50 points each

- The following options may only be taken by the mounts on the Tacticus Bunker in addition to those previously listed:
  - Hyperios command platform +20 points each
  - Battle cannon turret +50 points each
  - Icarus quad lascannon +75 points each

- In addition, the Tacticus Bunker may be further equipped with any of the following options:
  - Comms relay +20 points
  - Hostile signal jammer +20 points

275 POINTS+OPTIONS
Shielded Gate Barriers
The main entrances of the Castellum Stronghold are covered not by placere and adamantium, but crackling barriers of energy that can be raised or lowered at the will of the fortification's controller.

At the start of each of the controlling player's turns, they may declare whether the gate barriers (see the diagram on page 77) are each raised or lowered - consider them to be raised by default at the start of the game.

- Raised barriers are treated as impassable terrain to the height of the adjoining walls, but do not block line of sight. Wounds inflicted by shooting attacks that pass through a raised shield gate barrier benefit from a 3+ invulnerable save.
- Should the Castellum's Tacticus Bunker be destroyed, the barriers collapse and cannot be raised again.

Defensive Structure
The Castellum Stronghold is a paragon of the military architect's craft, utilizing technologies and materials beyond that of mute stone and steel.

The following rules and conditions apply:
- The Battlements of the Castellum Stronghold confer a 4+ cover
  save for units on top of them.
- Units that Go to Ground anywhere on the Castellum Stronghold tile gain +2 to their cover saves rather than +1.
- The Bunkers of the Castellum Stronghold have a 5+ invulnerable
  save against shooting attacks directed against them and units within them.

Comms Relay
While the Tacticus Bunker is intact and occupied by a friendly unit,
the controlling player's Reserve rolls may be re-rolled.

Hostile Signal Jammer
While the Tacticus Bunker is intact and occupied by a friendly unit, roll a D6 for any enemy unit attempting to Deep Strike either onto the Castellum Stronghold tile or within 12" of its edges. On a result of 4+, the unit suffers a Deep Strike Mishap automatically.

Djinn-sight
The sinister blank-faced helmets of the Thallaxii conceal an array of unhuman sensory apparatus through which they experience the battlefield as a raging storm of electromagnetic turmoil, bloodheat and seismogenic percussion. However, for the organic brain to handle this hurricane of data, it must be surgically mutilated, removing the mere human senses such as sight and hearing.

The Djinn-sight means that a Thallas reduces the benefits of any cover save its opponent has by -2 (a 4+成为 a 6, a 5+ being ignored entirely, and so on). Additionally, Infiltrators may not be set up within 24" of Thallax units, regardless of line of sight.

Optional Heavy Support: This unit may only be included in the army under certain provisions – see the Cortex Controller on page 81.

*A model equipped with a Siege Wrecker loses one of its bolters.

Special Option
- A single Maniple comprised solely of a single Battle-automata (of any type) in the detachment may be given.
  - Paragon of Metal special rule +35 points

Optional Heavy Support

The most common Castellax type Battle-automata in service, the Castellan is a general battle unit developed during the Great Crusade from its ancient forebear. Primarily intended for siege work and shock assaults, it is a terrifying humanoid machine whose height is the height of a man, with a notoriously aggressive and responsive machine spirit, and an enviable reputation on the battlefield. Its armoured endoskeleton is proof against small arms fire and highly resistant to damage thanks to its durable design and the presence of the same armament and defensive technology that features on the Legiones Astarii Contemptor class Dreadnought.

The Castellax class was a mainstay both of the Legio Cybernetica and the elite defensive formations of many Forge Worlds who relied on its formidable power for their protection. Some in the Imperial hierarchy saw the steady increase in the number of these war machines as a growing threat to the supremacy of the Imperium. Should the Mechanicum ever default on its treaty of mutual support with the Emperor, History was to take a different course, and in a few short years thousands of these war engines would be broken on the wheel of war, and the Castellax was never to be seen again in such numbers.
LEGIONES ASTARTES SPECIAL RULES

LEGIONES ASTARTES

The Space Marines of the Emperor's Legions are genetically engineered, psycho-indoctrinated warriors with superhuman abilities and minds and souls tempered for war. In addition each individual Legion has its own idiosyncrasies and character—the product of their gene-seed and unique warrior culture.

- Units with this special rule may always attempt to regroup normally regardless of casualties.
- Units will also have additional special rules and abilities specific to their Legion.

A Space Marine may only have one such 'named' rule, e.g. Legiones Astartes (Sons of Horus). Space Marine units from a different Legion may only be included using the Allies rules (see the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook) in conjunction with the Allies in the Age of Darkness chart found on page 12.

Unlisted Legions: If you are using this army list to represent a Legion which does not yet have its own unique Legiones Astartes rule, you may instead apply either the Stubborn or Furious Charge special rule to the standard provisions of this rule in the interim.

Automated Artillery

Unlike standard artillery, Automated Artillery does not require crew in order to function. It is not removed from play due to a lack of crew and each gun must be destroyed normally before it is removed. Automated Artillery cannot move and cannot charge. If assaulted they do not Pile In and cannot be locked in combat; their attackers will hit automatically, but must roll To Wound normally. If a unit of Automated Artillery loses an assault nothing happens, there are no Sweeping Advances, no Pile Ins and no Consolidation moves. The Automated Artillery remains in place and may fire normally in future turns. If the Automated Artillery wins an assault, the enemy must take a Morale check as normal, although the artillery piece cannot Consolidate or make a Sweeping Advance.

Primarch

Genetically engineered creations whose powers and abilities shame even those of the enhanced warriors they lead, the Primarchs, although few in number, beset the battlefields of the Great Crusade and the dark age of the Horus Heresy like demi-gods and no mortal force can stand against them. Any model with the Primarch special rule is automatically the army's Warlord and does not roll randomly for Warlord Traits (these will have been included in their own unique abilities). Unless fighting in a game of Warhammer 40,000: Apocalypse, no force may ever include more than a single Primarch.

Primarch also incorporates the effects of a number of other special rules. These are the following:

- Independent Character
- Eternal Warrior
- Fear
- Adamantium Will
- Fleet
- Fearless
- It will not Die
- Master of the Legion (See the Space Marine Praetor entry on page 14)

Chosen Warriors

A model with this special rule may issue and accept Challenges as if it had the Character type. Note that this does not allow a model with this special rule to use any other rules associated with the Character type.
Battlesmith
Those versed in the secret arts and teachings of the Mechanicum, whether Techmarine, Forge Lord or Major, have the skill and ability to reconstruct and effect field repairs to war machinery in the very heat of battle.

If a Battlesmith is in base contact with, or embarked upon, one or more damaged vehicles during the Shooting phase, they can attempt to repair one of them instead of firing a weapon. Roll a D6. If the result is 5 or more, you may do one of the following:

• Restore a lost Hull Point.
• Repair a Weapon Destroyed result.
• Repair an Immobile result to the attendant vehicle.

If a Weapon Destroyed result is repaired, that weapon can be fired in the following Shooting phase. The Battlesmith cannot use this ability if they have gone to ground or are falling back.

Models with the Battlesmith rule that also possess a Cortex Controller may instead of the above restore a single lost wound to a Battle Automata as a use of this ability.

Immobile (Artillery Type)
An Immobile Artillery piece cannot be moved after it has been deployed except by the use of a specialised vehicle, and ignores any effect which forces it to move. This only affects the platform – not any crew who are subject to all normal Artillery rules. When called upon to fall back, the crew must leave their guns behind and fall back; the platforms are then removed as casualties.

Note that an Immobile unit may still have the Scout or Deep Strike special rules as these reflect redeployment or deployment during battle, rather than game movement. Only if it has the Deep Strike special rule may an Immobile unit be held in reserve.

Space Marine Legion Crew

A Stormblade upgraded to have Space Marine Legion Crew increases its Ballistic Skill to BS 4.

Command Tank

If the vehicle is upgraded to a Command tank, all allied units within 24" of the Stormblade may re-roll failed Morale checks.

Co-axial Weapon

A weapon with the Co-axial special rule will specify another weapon mounted on the same vehicle. When a target is declared for this weapon, the co-axial weapon must fire at it first if it is within range. If the co-axial weapon hits the target, then the other weapon may re-roll its To Hit roll if it misses.

Flyers and the Deep Strike special rule

As well as arriving via the usual Reserves method, some Flyers also have the ability to deploy via Deep Strike, representing a vertical dive onto the battlefield. If the Flyer in question has the Hover mode, the controlling player must declare before the Deep Strike is attempted whether the Flyer is Zoromag or being towed as a Fast Skimmer. If using Hover mode, the rules for Deep Strike apply as standard. If using a Zoromag Deep Strike, Flyers deploying via Deep Strike count as making a Zoom move and having moved at Cruising speed (18") on the turn they arrive, but are not moved any further in the turn in which they are deployed. They cannot evade, go Flat Out, drop bombs or deploy transported units in the turn in which they arrive. On subsequent turns, the Flyer is free to operate as normal. This is a risky proposition for an aircraft, and a test of a pilot’s skill, and so the usual rules for Deep Strike mishaps apply even though the Flyer is movement at a higher altitude than is normally the case.
Legiones Astartes Wargear

This section of the Space Marine Crusade Legion Army list details the weapons and equipment used by the Space Marines in the era of the latter Great Crusade and at the outbreak of the cataclysmic wars of the Horus Heresy, along with rules for using them in your games of Warhammer 40,000. Weapons that are used by multiple units are listed here, while unique items belonging to special characters and units are listed with their profile.

Ranged Weapons

Archaeotech Pistol

Despite the renaissance of human power in the galaxy that the Great Crusade has created, there remains much of Mankind’s ancient might and arts that are lost to myth and legend, save for a few relics that have survived the stifling darkness of Old Night. One of the more common types of these relics found are sidearms of surpassing firepower and elegance. Be they bespoke slug throwers utilizing micro-atomic munitions or searing kill-rays that draw power from a planet’s ambient magnetosphere, such priceless artefacts of war find their way into the hands of the Emperor’s chosen agents and the masters of the Space Marine Legions.

Avenger Bolt Cannon

The Avenger cannon fires a relentless stream of heavy, high velocity, mass reactive shells, making it highly effective against foes that attack in large concentrations of massed infantry. So heavy is this torrent of fire however that even heavily armoured targets are in danger, their armour torn to ragged shreds under the relentless rain of explosive impacts.

Designed as a tactically flexible weapon for employment in the Terminator armour project, a combi-bolter is in essence two standard pattern bolters slaved to fire together. It is a bulky and somewhat crude, but very effective, weapon prototype that was gaining widespread use at the time of the Heresy.

Conversion Beam Weapons

These esoteric energy weapons fire a beam which induces a subatomic implosion in their target, with the beam itself gathering power over distance up to a terminal point of beam instability. Conversion beamers are both difficult to construct and highly complex to use, needing skilled calibration to operate as well as dedicated reactor core systems to power. As a result conversion beamers are primarily used for dedicated siege warfare or starship breaching assaults by specialised operators such as Techmarines and Mechanicum Constructors. More rarely larger conversion beamer weapons are mounted on a vehicle chassis with advanced control mechanisms and an abundance of reactor power such as the Contemptor pattern Dreadnought.

A shot from a conversion beamer has a number of different profiles, the use of which depends upon how far the chosen target is from the firer up to the weapon’s maximum range. When firing the weapon measure the distance to the target, place the weapon’s Blast template and scatter as normal for a blast weapon. Once the final location of the template has been determined, measure to the centre of the Blast marker and consult the weapon’s chart to determine the effect.

Firing Calibration (Heavy Conversion Beamer only)

The power requirements and targeting calculations needed to effectively use this weapon means that it may not be fired if the model carrying it has moved in the same turn, regardless of the Relentless special rule or if the carrying model is a vehicle, etc.

Field Artillery Weapons
The Space Marine Legions utilise a variety of support weapons as needed, including shell-firing heavy guns of different calibres and missile launch systems for bombardment and heavy assaults against fortified positions. One of the most common of these is the Worldshaker Launcher, a variant of the Rhino chassis able to utilise a variety of warhead payloads, while the quad launcher (colloquially known as a Thudd gun) is favoured against enemies wont to attack in a headlong rush such as the Orks. The Medusa's devastating if short ranged cannon is favoured for close siege assaults.

Shell Shock
Due to the repeated rapid impact of the quad-launcher's shells, pinning tests taken because of its attacks are made at a -1 Leadership penalty.

Graviton Weapons
Little understood even by the Tech-priests of Mars, the term graviton gun refers to a group of gravity projector devices whose sophistication is such that the few that now remain are relics of a lost age. Such weapons prove extremely useful when fighting on a starship or in a null gravity environment. The power of the graviton gun's highest settings is sufficient to rupture organs and crack bones even inside an armoured vessel, but its primary use is to impede the enemy and damage machinery without the risks of secondary explosions.

*Graviton Pulse
Instead of rolling To Wound normally with this weapon, any target caught in its blast must instead roll equal to or under their Strength on a D6 or suffer a wound (a roll of 6 always counts as a failure). After the Graviton pulse weapon has been fired, leave the Blast marker in place. This area now counts as both difficult terrain and dangerous terrain for the next turn thanks to the gravity flux.

Grenade Harness
An auxiliary weapon system fitted to Terminator armour, the grenade harness unleashes a barrage of fragmentation charges at the foe as the Terminator charges. The grenade harness is a one-shot weapon, and when it is fired the firing Terminator and any squad they have joined count as having assault grenades in the Assault phase of that turn.

Kheres Pattern Assault Cannon
A prototype weapons system incorporated into the advanced Terminator-pattern Dreadnought, the Kheres is a high velocity cannon which uses electrically driven spinning barrels to maintain a massive rate of fire. Thanks to this relentless torrent of explosive shells this assault cannon can chew and tear its way through the most heavily armoured foe. More compact assault cannons were entering limited use with the Terminator-armour equipped forces of several Legions at the beginning of the Heresy.

Lightning Gun
This aptly named weapon takes the form of a baroque designed carbine either connected to a micro-reactor or, in the case of an Ordo Reductor Thallas, their fire's own cybernetic power core. It fires an ionizing las-beam down which a powerful plasmas discharge of electromagnetic force is unleashed; and is equally effective at slaughtering the living and overloading machine targets.

Needle Pistol
A favored weapon of the assassins of the Terran Courts during the days before Unification, needle pistols are sophisticated and elegant handguns whose operation is silent, invisible and deadly. The finest examples use a combination of a flash-less laser to pierce flesh, followed by an impeller-shot of virulent poisons delivered instantaneously into the open wound. This combination can lay low the toughest foe with ruthless efficiency.

Laser Destroyer
The laser destroyer is a powerful reactor-charged anti-tank weapon that uses multiple laser generators to fire staggered near-simultaneous blasts of energy focused on a single target point. This has the effect of disintegrating the densest armour in a series of powerful impacts micro-seconds apart, making the weapon able to vapourise a tank or shatter an armoured bulkhead in a single blazing volley.

Magna-melta
Heavy, vehicle-mounted, short ranged, area-effect heat cannon, magna-meltas were originally designed for space assault craft to enable them to turn a large cubic volume of starship hull plating to liquid slag. A weapon of this magnitude’s effects on less durable targets such as battle tanks and living matter are unsurprisingly catastrophic.

Phosphex Bombs & Meduss Shells
Phosphex is a rare corrosive toxic and incendiary compound utterly inimical to life, deployed both in the form of large canister bombs and heavy shells. It expands on contact with air into a seething, liquid mist which burns with an eerie white green flame which is attracted to movement. This gelid flame ignites metal and eats relentlessly into living tissue, and cannot be extinguished short of exposure to vacuum. As effective as this horrific weapon is, its use is not widespread as it has a tainting effect beyond even rad weapons on the areas in which it is employed, but remains within the arsenals of the Space Marine Legions as a weapon of dire resort.

Lingering Death
When a blast weapon with this rule is used, after the attack is resolved leave the Blast marker in play for the rest of the game and mark it with a counter of some kind. This area is now treated as dangerous terrain for all models with a Toughness value and open-topped vehicles. Note: It is advisable to have multiple spare blast markers when using this rule!

Crawling Fire
After the blast marker for a weapon with this rule is placed, the firer may move the marker up to 2" in any direction so long as this would cover more models than previously.

Plasma Weapony (Crusade Era)
In addition to the Imperial plasma weapons listed in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook, such technology was far better understood during the dawn age of the Imperium and was somewhat unsafe. As a result, three additional rarer types of sophisticated plasma weapons are listed below, which would become all but unknown in later ages.

Rad Grenades & Rad Missiles
Special issue weapons commonly only employed against the most dangerous of xenos or rad grenades and warheads detonate with a short, intense burst of radiation and shower the immediate area with highly contaminated fallout. As well as direct damage, these can be used to bombard an area, and have the effect of debilitating rather than slaying outright, rendering a target vulnerable to further injury.

Rad Grenades: These are special grenades that count neither as assault or defensive grenades, but have their own unique effect. During a turn in which a unit equipped with rad grenades launches an assault, or is themselves assaulted, the enemy unit(s) suffer a -1 penalty to their Toughness until the end of the Assault phase. Note: This does affect the victims’ instant death thresholds.
Red Missiles: These Terran-devised missiles, a horror of the gene-wararchy of Old Night, use custom-loaded warheads which combine high explosive charges with inner fragmentation cases made from highly radioactive isotopes, usually harvested from decommisioned fusion reactor shells. The effect is to create an intensely toxic weapon that inflicts a hideous death on its victims, and that can poison and lay low the most resilient organism.

Rotor Cannon

Favoured by many Imperial Army formations and seeing limited use with some Space Marine Legions, rotor cannons are multi-barrelled stubbers, using electric motors to maintain an extraordinary rate of fire from their spinning barrels. The simple, medium-calibre solid slug projectiles they fire lack the power of bolt shells, but the hail of shot they unleash can be particularly useful against unarmoured hordes of foes and fleshly xenos. The newly prototyped assault cannon technology represents a more effective and powerful implementation of this principle.

Shroud Bombs

These canister bombs unleash a shimmering grey fog of dense smoke and multi-spectrum electromagnetic charge that foils scanners and surveynors just as easily as it does vision.

Shroud bombs count as defensive grenades in combat (see the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook). In addition, with the exception of vehicles, Daemons, Gargantuans Creatures and units which have the Night Vision special rule, units must pass a Leadership test in order to charge a unit equipped with Shroud bombs.

Volkite Weapons

Volkite is an arcane Martian term for a variety of powerful ray weapons whose origins date back to the Age of Strife. Possessed of considerable killing power surpassing most armaments of their size, Volkites were difficult to manufacture, even for the most able of the Mechanicum’s forges, and the demands of the expanding Crusade swiftly overwhelmed supply of these relic guns. Once relatively common within the fledgling Legions, they had fallen largely from favour by the time of the Heresy, and had been superseded in the Space Marine Legions by the far more flexible and utilitarian Terran bolt. Those few that remained in service were the purview of only a few specialised units at the outbreak of the conflict that rent the Imperium asunder.

Deflagrate

Deflagrating attacks have a devastating effect on organic matter, explosively burning flesh into ash and setting fire. After normal attacks by this weapon have been resolved, count the number of unsaved wounds caused on the target unit. Immediately resolve a number of additional automatic hits on the same unit using the weapon’s profile equal to the number of unsaved wounds – these can then be saved normally. Models in the targeted unit must still be in range in order for these additional hits to take effect. These additional hits do not themselves inflict more hits!

A Note on Power Weapons

Wherever in this book's profile list a model is described as being either equipped with a 'power weapon' or has the option to take one then either a power sword, power axe or power maul (see the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook) may be freely chosen so long as they are clearly depicted on the model.

Breacher Charge

A Breacher charge is used to destroy armoured emplacements and shatter fortifications and barricades. Much like meltas bombs, these powerful electrochemical explosive charges are too bulky and cumbersome to easily throw like a grenade, and additionally pose some risk to their user at close range, but are extremely destructive in skilled hands.

A model equipped with a breacher charge may use it in an assault instead of using their normal attacks or weapons. The model makes a single attack. Place the Blast (5") template anywhere in base contact with the attacking model so that it covers the enemy. The template may not be placed so that it covers friendly models. Roll to hit against the enemy's Weapon Skill of the weapon (buildings, emplacements and stationary vehicles are hit automatically and no roll is needed). On a successful hit, the template remains where it is. On a miss, the Scatter dice and flip the template over in the direction shown if an arrow result is rolled (re-roll the Hit if needed until an arrow is shown).

Chainaxe

A savage weapon that had its origins within the World Eaters Space Marine Legion, and the black-humoured whims of its master, the Primarch Angron, chainaxes feature heavier blades and more powerful motors than the more common Legion chainwords. Better able to pierce armour in the hands of a skilled wielder (and all but unusable otherwise), there were those, even before the Heresy, that wondered at the development of such a weapon, seemingly designed as much for the displays of fountaining gore it created as its effectiveness in battle.

Charnabale Sabre

With their origins tracing back to the ancient duelling societies, assassin cults and bloody vendettas of the Terran Courts during the Age of Strife, these elegant and deadly weapons rely on speed and dexterity rather than brute force for their lethality. The pure metal of their blades is press-folded and stamped scores of times over before being micro-serrated with a fractal-sharp edge. The master swordsmiths of Terra are each said to have their own rituals of forging, impressing a distinct pattern in each bespoke blade as legible as a signature to those with the wit to read them. As well as the nobles of the Terran Court certain Space Marine Legion officers favour the Charnabale sabre over more 'clumsy' power weapons as they see them as being more responsive to true martial skill, while others think them effete and decadent weapons.

Combat Blades

Combat blade is a catch-all category which describes a variety of lethal hand-to-hand weapons favoured by the Space Marine Legions, the exact form varying from Legion to Legion by its culture and tradition. They range from heavy razor-edged chain-bayonets, to adamanite gladius and Thule-alloy battle-axes that would be too heavy for an unsaugmented human to wield.

Sweep Attack

Rather than using their own Attack value, a model using a weapon with this special rule may, if they wish, instead make a number of attacks equal to the number of enemy models in base contact with them.
Digital Lasers
Incredibly sophisticated miniaturised weapons of xenos origin, these devices are extremely short ranged but potent enough to kill despite being small enough to be concealed in a ring gauntlet, sword hilt or helm. With a skilled user they are particularly effective in close combat, where they can be used to deliver a deadly strike to a foe already occupied in fending off the fighter’s blows.

Digital lasers provide +1 Attack in close combat.

Lascutter
These are powerful, albeit extremely unwieldy, industrial tools used for cutting through armoured bulkheads and working otherwise impermeable ores that make use of a disruption field-assisted short range laser arc. They are utilised in siege warfare where they can make for a devastating if makeshift close-quarter weapon.

Cumbersome
A model using a close combat weapon with this special rule can only ever make a single attack at WS 1 in an Assault phase, regardless of their profile or any bonus or other special rule.

Machinator Array
Akin to the servo-arm employed by Techmarines and Mechanicum Engineers, a Machinator array is a far more complex and intricate system of manipulators, augmetic body replacements, built tools, sensors and energy arc-projectors utilised by the most able Magos of the Machine Cult. Each array is unique to the Magos who bears it implanted into their flesh and cerebral cortex, and depends upon them more than their own weak flesh.

A Machinator array adds +1 to its user’s Toughness characteristic and the Night Vision special rule. It also incorporates a flamers and an inferno pistol, and the user can either opt to fire both of these weapons in the Shooting phase, or one of them and another ranged weapon the model is carrying.

A model with the Battlesmith special rule may add +2 to their Repair roll result if they are also equipped with a Machinator array.

A model equipped with a Machinator array may make two additional attacks per turn in close combat as well as any they would normally be eligible to make. This is done using the weapon profile shown below:

Paragon Blade
Weapons forged of consummate artistry or irreplaceable relics of the ancient might of the Dark Age, Paragon blades are few in number and may take many forms. The most common Paragon blades are two-handed power weapons of extraordinary balance and durability, although even more rarely unique chain weapons wrought from the teeth of terrifying xenos-beasts and certain night-black sickle swords found on remote death worlds on the edges of the Halo Stars have been known to hold similar phenomenal killing power. Regardless of their form, Paragon blades are valued beyond price by the Imperium’s warriors.

Servo-arm
A servo arm is a heavy industrial claw-limb and manipulator array often directly spliced into a Techmarine’s or Magos’ adept’s nervous system. As well as making for a powerful tool, they can also be wielded in battle as a clumsy but savagely powerful weapon.

A model with the Battlesmith special rule may add +2 to their Repair roll result if they are also equipped with a servo arm.

Siege Wrecker
This is a general term given to a specialised form of massive close combat weapons intended for Legion Dreadnoughts and Mechanicum battle-automata. Wreckers are designed to enable these heavy assault units to smash through fortifications and easily crush armoured barricades and defences in siege warfare. The most common form of this weapon is a hydraulic ram or massive disruption-field augmented hammer, although specialised forms of heavy claw or drill systems are also used.

Wrecker
Weapons and attacks with this special rule may re-roll failed Armour Penetration rolls against fortifications and immobile structures (such as bunkers and barricades), and add +1 to any result rolled on the Building Damage chart. If this attack damages a bulkhead or wall section of terrain and destroys it, remove that section of terrain from play if possible.
EQUIPMENT

Rules for the following vehicle upgrades can be found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

- Dozer blade
- Extra armour
- Hunter-killer missile
- Searchlight
- Smoke launchers

Armoured Ceramite

Additional heavy ceramite plating fitted to a vehicle allows it to withstand extremes of heat and radiation. Plating of this kind is commonly fitted to orbital strike craft to enable them to withstand the rigours of 'crash' re-entry from space into a planet's atmosphere, and also to certain siege vehicles to protect them from thermal energy weapons.

A vehicle with this wargear is not subject to the additional D6 armour penetration caused by weapons with the Melita special rule.

Armoured Cockpit (Flyers)

A vehicle equipped with an Armoured Cockpit may ignore results of Crew Shaken and Crew Stunned on a roll of 4+.

Armoured Track Guards

A vehicle equipped with Armoured Track Guards has a 4+ save against any Immobilised results on the Vehicle Damage table (note that Hull Point damage from such an attack is still inflicted, but the Immobilised result is ignored).

Artificer Armour

Forged by the master craftsmen of the Mechanicum these superior variations of power armour are often highly embellished with ciphers of strength and durability, while some of wildly differing designs are far older than the present age and owe their origins to the forgotten zenith of human technological might.

Artificer armour confers a 2+ Armour save.

Augury Scanner

This energy scanning device has the effect of alerting the user to the concealed presence or imminent arrival of enemy troops in the vicinity, even if concealed, and can even detect the tell-tale electro-gravitic disruption effect on local space that presages teleport transfers.

Models cannot be deployed using the Infiltrate special rule within 18" of a model with an augury scanner. Enemy models deployed using deep strike within this range can also be attacked by a unit carrying an Augury Scanner in the Shooting phase as if their rapid fire and heavy weapons (if they have any) had the Interceptor special rule.

Auxiliary Drive

The standard patterns of Imperial vehicles are often customised by the Legions that field them, and in some cases are test beds for technology either designed or recovered in the field by the Magos and Techmarines that maintain them. One common form of such customisation is the fitting of backup and auxiliary drive systems such as secondary galvanic motors of outrigger thrusters to keep a vehicle mobile for short periods even if its main motive drive becomes damaged.

A vehicle with an auxiliary drive may repair Immobilised results it suffers on a D6 roll of 4+ at the start of the controlling player's Movement phase.

Bomb Cluster (Flyers)

A weapons system with the Bomb Cluster type may drop as many bombs as its controlling player wishes as part of a single bombing run, up to the total listed number of bombs it is carrying. Pick a single target model for all of the bombs in the bombing run – this must be a model that the Flyer has passed over that turn. The initial bomb dropped scatters D6 and bombs dropped after that scatter the same way as additional barrage blasts from a Multiple Barrage (see the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook).

Camelcoline

Camelcoline is a refractive chemical substance that morphically blends its colouration into the surrounding area. It is often woven into cloaks and smocks, or more rarely, as a coating over armour plate, and aids with concealment and in covert assaults.

Camelcoline provides the user with the Stealth special rule.

Cognis-signum

An advanced array of sensory devices, cognitor-assisted communications and telemetry arrays built into a purpose-modified suit of power armour, these enable the wearer to co-ordinate battlefield data with blinding speed.

A model with this wargear automatically counts as being equipped with an augury scanner and has the Night Vision special rule.

In addition, in lieu of the model equipped with the Cognis-signum firing a weapon in the Shooting phase, a single designated unit of the controlling player's choice within 6" of the signum-equipped model (other than Independent Characters or Super-heavy) gains a bonus of +1 to their BS for that Shooting phase.
Combat Shields & Boarding Shields

A combat shield is a wrist-mounted shield or buckler containing a small field generator which enables it to withstand great amounts of damage while boarding shields are larger, bulkier versions of the same. These were favoured by assault units employed by Breacher squads for protection in the confined close quarter fighting of starship boarding actions and siege attacks. Although these shields’ smaller size and weaker defensive field mean they offer nothing like the protection offered by the prototype Legiones Astartes storm shields that were beginning to enter service at the time of the Heresy, they remained a valued part of a Legion’s armoury.

Combat shields and boarding shields confer a 6+ invulnerable save, increasing to 5+ in close combat.

A model equipped with a boarding shield also counts as being equipped with defensive grenades. Boarding shields however are far heavier and more cumbersome than combat shields and models equipped with them cannot claim the extra attack for being armed with an additional close combat weapon.

Cortex Controller

This control and signalling device uses data-djinn to command Battle-automata fitted with Cybernetic Cortex systems, allowing the wielder to witness the battlefield through the automata’s own senses as well as monitor their status and exact precise control over their actions. Only the most highly experienced and specifically augmented adepts of the Mechanicum and the Forge Lords of the Legiones Astartes can hope to fathom the use of these fraction devices and successfully interpret the data of streaming data from their unliving minions.

The presence of a Cortex Controller within 12" of part of a unit of friendly models with the Programmed Behaviour special rule at the start of any phase means that special rule is negated for that phase and their controlling player is free to use them as any other unit.

Cyber-familiar

Utilised by Techmarines and the Adeptus of the Mechanicum, cyber-familiar is a term that encompasses a variety of semi-autonomous devices such as servo-skulls, mek-spiders and other smaller drone units and lesser haemonculities tied into the direct neural control of their operator. These minion-drones are an extension of their master’s will and provide them with a host of additional senses and capabilities.

A Cyber-familiar adds +1 to its owner’s invulnerable save (to a maximum of 3+) or an invulnerable save of 6+ if they do not already possess one. In addition they allow them to re-roll failed characteristic tests other than Leadership tests and failed Dangerous Terrain tests.

The Cyber-familiar may be either modelled as part of the character equipped with them, or on separate bases and kept in coherence; however they are discounted as models for game purposes, have no separate profile, make no attacks, need not be transported, etc., and are simply moved out of the way in combat or if they interfere with the game.

Cybernetic Cortex

Comprising a synthetic ‘brain’ of sorts of the most advanced Battle-automata, a Cybernetic cortex consists of an armoured casing containing a complex bio-plastic mass which extrudes nerve-like grey tendrils into the body of the robotic frame into which it is housed, invigorating it with strange false-life. Far beyond a simple cogitator in capacity, it is neither truly alive nor sapient like the dread and inhuman ‘Silica Animus’ feared of old. Instead, it is akin to a primal web of bionics instinct, guided not by self-awareness and reason, but by a programmed framework of encoded behaviour, comprising simple and exacting instructions and commands. The result is a superior, self-guided weapon, a machine-predator that will actively and instinctively pursue its foes as well as act with a degree of tactical sense and self-preservation beyond anything a servitor is capable of, but without the dangers of revolt and the development of blasphemous intelligence—or so the Legio Cybernetica claim.

Models with a Cybernetic cortex have the Programmed Behaviour, Fearless, Cybernetic Resilience and Adamantium Will special rules.

Programmed Behaviour: Unless within 12" of a friendly model equipped with a Cortex Controller, the following restrictions are placed on the unit’s use in the game. These restrictions do not apply if the chosen model is already locked in an assault:

- Methodical: The Battle-automata may not make sweeping advances or Run moves.
- Target Priority: If enemy models are within 12" and within line of sight during their Shooting phase, the Battle-automata must fire all its weapons against the closest enemy unit it is able to harm. If this is not the case, they are free to select targets as normal.
- Onslaught: If enemy units are within 12" during their Assault phase, the Battle-automata must attempt to charge the closest enemy unit if able. Note that the Battle-automata may still only charge the same unit it fired at if it fired in the Shooting phase. If consolidating after combat, they must do so towards the nearest enemy model if one is present within 12".
- Fire Protocols: A model with this rule may fire up to three of its weapons once each in the Shooting phase—this must be against the same target.

Cybernetic Resilience: Models with this special rule straddle an existence between machine creature and synthetic life, making them both resilient to the particular frailties of the organic, but also partly subject to the vulnerabilities of the pure machine:

- Successful wounds scored by attacks with the Poisoned or Fleshbane special rules must be re-rolled against this model.
- In addition to any other effects they cause, attacks with the Haywire special rule will cause an additional wound on a 6 on a D6 result of 6 against the model. Roll for this wound separately, saves may be taken as normal.

Flare Shield

Another of the Mechanicum’s specialised systems that only their high adepts truly understand, a flare shield is a directional electromagnetic field generator rumoured by some to be a product of Dark Age technology from a source best left forgotten.

A flare shield operates against shooting attacks that strike the vehicle’s front arc. It reduces the strength of attacks by weapons with the Template or Blast type by -2, and other shooting attacks by 1. A flare shield has no effect on close combat attacks or attacks inflicted with the Destroyer rule.
Ground-tracking Auguries
Utilising similar systems to those carried by the Protonius pattern Land Raider, ground tracking auguries are jealously guarded by the Mechanicum. They are fitted to sub-orbital craft operating as scouts at the leading edge of the Great Crusade, sophisticated scanners and advanced cognis-interpreters allowing for the detection and analysis of even the most well concealed ground target.

A Flyer equipped with this system gains the Strafing Run special rule.

Illum Flares (Flyers)
A vehicle equipped with Illum Flares may drop a single flare per turn. They are fired in the same manner as Bombs (see the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook), a marker being placed where the flare lands after it has scattered. Leave the marker in place until the end of the turn. Any unit targeting an enemy unit within 12" of the flare marker gains the Night Vision rule for that Shooting phase. If the firing unit also has the Split Fire special rule, it only gains the benefit of Night Vision when firing at units with at least one model within 12" of the flare marker.

Infra-red Targeting
A vehicle equipped with Infra-red Targeting gains the Night Vision special rule.

Flare or Chaff Launchers (Flyers)
These are a single use item. A vehicle equipped with flare or chaff launchers has a 4+ invulnerable save against any damage inflicted by missile weapons.

Loric Thallax
A divergent form of power armour technology developed by the Ordo Reductor of the Mechanicum for their Thallax Centurions, the Loric Thallax, unlike its Space Marine counterparts, is permanently surgically bonded to the body of the wearer. It uses linked mechanical armatures to replace the primary limbs, and a compact reactor core to generate power for the Thallax's weaponry. The armour is fused directly to the spinal column and nervous system of the Thallax and marks them both as warstars of the Mechanicum and serves as a symbol of their servitude.

Loric Thallax provides a 4+ Armour save and Feel No Pain (6+) and a model equipped with this armour may not make Sweeping Advances.

Legion Vexilla and Standard
Each Space Marine maintains the ancient military tradition of the battle standard being a rallying point and spur to glory. These icons vary greatly from Legion to Legion depending on their particular martial culture. Be they a tattered flag that has weathered the shot and shell of a hundred battlefields, a burning steel standard or a trophy rack bedecked with the heads of slain xenos, it is in the shadow of such banners and icons that battles are won or lost. From the Vexilla displaying a particular squad's proud colours to the great standards of the Legions' chapters and companies, it is beneath such banners that countless worlds have been conquered and scores of inhuman empires have been trampled into the dust.

- Legion Vexilla – A unit with a Legion Vexilla may re-roll failed Morale checks.
- Legion Standard – All of the Controlling player's units with the Legiones Astartes special rule within 6" of a Legion Standard (including its bearer) are Fearless.

Legion Space Marine Bike
To some greater or lesser extent each Space Marine Legion deploys a number of Bike and Attack Bike squads as battlefield scouts, pursuit and shock troops. Some are based on venerable patterns such as the Iron Shadow predating the Dark Age, while others, such as the Wyvern which was developed on the far flung worlds of humanity in response to local conditions, have been considerably up-engined and armoured for Space Marine use.

Space Marine Bikes and Attack Bikes use the standard rules found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Legion Space Marine Scimitar Jetbike
Rare and deadly machines, whose compact and extremely powerful grav-repellor motors are limited in production to only a handful of sources in the galaxy-spanning Imperium, Space Marine Scimitar Jetbikes are a glorious sight in battle, and often the last one an enemy sees.

Space Marine Scimitar Jetbikes operate under the standard rules for Jetbikes found in the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook. Any character model that selects a Scimitar Jetbike as an option gains both +1 Toughness and improves its Armour save to 2+ if it is lower than this.

Machine Spirit
Certain vehicles of the Space Marine Legions, most notably the Land Raider and its variants, are outfitted with a far more powerful control and cogitation system than usually found in armoured vehicles, whose Machine Spirit verges on the dangerously near-sentient. This gelatinous machine-entity not only supports the crew's actions in combat, but also predicts them, and can even take over if they have become incapacitated or stunned, protecting its own coldly savage attacks.

A vehicle equipped with a Machine Spirit gains the Power of the Machine Spirit special rule.

Missile Barrage (Flyers)
A Flyer with this rule may fire up to four of its missiles in a single turn rather than the normal maximum of two. These still count to the total maximum of four weapons it may fire at once, however, according to the standard rules for Zooming Flyers.

Mine Plough
A vehicle equipped with a mine plough rolls 1D6 when making a Dangerous Terrain test instead of just one dice. The test is only failed if the result of both rolls is 1. In addition, whenever the vehicle moves through an enemy Infantry unit as part of a Tank Shock move and is not destroyed, the enemy unit takes D3+1 S4 AP hits.

Nartheicum
While the Adeptus Medicae carries this specialised medical and alchemical gear is still alive, all Space Marine models in their squad and any Space Marine Independent Characters that have joined it have the Feel No Pain universal special rule.
Nuncio-vox
Usually fitted into a modified power armour backpack, a nuncio-vox is a beacon and communications array that allows a Space Marine unit to remain in constant co-ordination with other elements of their Legion – be they in a neighbouring region or in orbit high overhead. This allows precision reinforcements to be deployed nearby and strikes to be targeted with deadly accuracy.

If one of the controlling player’s units wishes to arrive on the battlefield via Deep Strike and chooses to do so within 6" of a unit equipped with a nuncio-vox, then it will not scatter. When barrage weapons are being used by the controlling player, line of sight may be drawn from any model in their force equipped with a nuncio-vox as well as the firing model itself (range is still drawn from the firing model, etc.). Note that the nuncio-vox model must already be on the table at the start of the turn for it to be used (and cannot be used from inside a vehicle).

Power Armour
Made from high grade composite armour plating over an augmenting musculature of electro-fibre bundles, power armour features its own energy systems, sensors and environmental seals. Legiones Astartes power armour is the signature wargear of the Space Marine Legions and subject to an ongoing evolution in design stretching back to the Thunder Warriors of the Unification Wars of Terra, fused with the wisdom of the Mechanicum’s Mars and technological relics recovered over the years of the Crusade. At the outset of the Heresy, the most common patterns employed by the Legions are the ‘Crusade’ and ‘Maximus’ types, with the ‘Iron’ pattern favoured for siege and close assault work, although there are considerable customised panoplies and many other Legion-specific sub-patterns in service.

Power armour provides a 3+ Armour save.

Ramjet Diffraction Grid
Using similar technology to the flare shield, this system channels the plasma heat and radiated waste of the Primaris-Lightning’s powerful engines into a scattering superheated plasma field in the aircraft’s wake, leaving a fiery, comet-like trail. This reduces the Strength value of incoming shooting attacks from its side and rear arcs by -1, but means the model cannot benefit from cover saves thanks to Night Fighting.

Refractor Fields & Iron Halos
These devices are defensive field generators designed for personal protection. They encompass the wearer in an energy field or force barrier which serves to resect or deflect impacts and energy discharges, although the need for the wearer to move and fight, as well as their power consumption prevents them from being anywhere near invisible to attack. Devices of this nature are relatively rare, even among the Space Marine Legions, and are the province of commanding officers and honoured champions where they are often incorporated into armour or amulets and gifted as a mark of favour and rank.

* Refractor fields provide a 5+ invulnerable save.
* Iron halos provide a 4+ invulnerable save.

Suspensor Web
These rare and highly sophisticated devices attach to portable heavy weapons systems partially negating their weight (if not their bulk), allowing them to be wielded in the manner of an assault weapon, although at a reduced effective range.

A heavy weapon with a suspensor web effectively allows the firer to treat the weapon as having the type Assault rather than Heavy (meaning that they can move and fire at full WS, etc.) when firing in the Shooting phase at targets at up to half the weapon’s usual maximum range. This has no other effect, such as on Snap Shots when charged, etc.

Example: A heavy bolter with a suspensor web which is usually a range 36" Heavy 3 weapon, can instead be used as if it were range 18" Assault 3 weapon if the player wishes in their Shooting phase.

Terminator Armour [Great Crusade Era]
Also known as Tactical Dreadnought Armour after the edict which called it into creation, Terminator Armour is the finest protective wargear in the arsenal of the Space Marine Legions, affording all but impervious protection on the battlefield. Designed principally for heavy assault speardreaders and for fighting in the murderous confines of space hulks, Terminator Armour is based in part on the heavily shielded industrial gear used by the Mechanicum’s Solar Adeptus to work within the blazing sun-hot interiors of plasma macro-reactors. Several different Terminator armour patterns were developed roughly concurrently by different Forge Worlds during the later decades of the Great Crusade, including the Indomitus, Taros and Sartine patterns, most of which were functionally identical.

Terminator armour features a powerful support exoskeleton and internal energy supply, but pays for this unparalleled protection with bulk. A model in Terminator armour has the Relentless and Bulky special rules, and is not able to make Sweeping Advance moves in combat. They also may not be transported in Rhino APCs. Terminator Armour affords a 2+ Armour save and a 5+ invulnerable save.

Cataphractii Pattern Terminator Armour
One of the first issued Tactical Dreadnought armour patterns, the Cataphractii suits were even more heavily protected than their contemporaries, with slab-like ceramic Pauldrons housing additional shield generators. This design has the unfortunate side effect of overstraining the armour’s exoskeleton and slowing the wearer dangerously. This difference led to the pattern’s declining use with some Legions at the outbreak of the Heresy.

In addition to the effects and rules listed previously for Terminator armour, models in Cataphractii pattern armour have the Slow and Purposeful special rules rather than the Relentless special rule, but their invulnerable save is increased to 4+.

THE HORUS HERESY
BOOK ONE - BETRAYAL

The Horus Heresy Book One - Betrayal is a supplement for Warhammer 40,000 dealing with war and battle in the dark age of the Horus Heresy, when the fledgling Imperium of Manland was torn apart by bloody civil war and treachery.

This book, lavishly illustrated in full colour, contains extensive background information on the Imperium as it stood at the end of the Great Crusade, the foundations of the Space Marines of the Legiones Astartes and the dark deeds of the battle of Isstvan III. Also detailed are the histories of the four Legions who took part: the Sons of Horus, Emperor’s Children, World Eaters and Death Guard, and an extensive campaign system that allows you to play out the conflict on Isstvan III in your own exciting tabletop battles.

This book also contains a complete Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list as well as game rules for the Primarchs of the four Legions, super-heavy vehicles and special characters featured in the story.

The Horus Heresy Book One - Betrayal is a complete expansion for the Warhammer 40,000 game and requires only the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook to use its contents.

BOOK TWO - MASSACRE

The Horus Heresy Book Two - Massacre is a supplement for Warhammer 40,000 dealing with war and battle in the dark age of the Horus Heresy, when the fledgling Imperium of Man was torn apart by bloody civil war and treachery. This bonded leather-bound hardback book, lavishly illustrated in full colour, contains extensive background information on the dark deeds leading up to the terrible slaughter that unfolded during the Istvan V Dropsite Massacre.

Also detailed are the histories of four of the Legions who took part: the Iron Hands, Salamanders, Night Lords and Word Bearers, and an extensive campaign system that allows you to play out the conflict on Istvan V in your own exciting tabletop battles.

This book also contains additional entries for the Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list presented in The Horus Heresy Book One - Betrayal, as well as game rules for the Primarchs of the four newly described Legions, super-heavy vehicles and special characters featured in the story.

The Horus Heresy Book Two - Massacre is an expansion for the Warhammer 40,000 game and requires the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook as well as The Horus Heresy Book One - Betrayal to use its contents.

BOOK THREE - EXTERMINATION

The Horus Heresy Book Three - Extermination is a supplement for Warhammer 40,000 dealing with war and battle in the dark age of the Horus Heresy. Detailed are the histories of four Legions: the Raven Guard, Iron Warriors, Alpha Legion and Imperial Fists. It completes the story of the Dropsite Massacre as well as two other battles erupting at the start of the war: the Invasion of Paramar and the Battle of Phall, and also features an extensive campaign system that allows you to play out a number of the melodramas described in your own exciting tabletop battles.

This book presents a complete army list for the Mechanicum, the T'au Hive Armies, including rules for a range of their fearsome new battle-automata and mighty and arcane war machines. It also features additional entries for the Space Marine Legion Crusade Army list presented in The Horus Heresy Book One - Betrayal, from game rules for the Primarchs of the four newly described Legions to super-heavy vehicles and special characters featured in the book's stories.

The Horus Heresy Book Three - Extermination is an expansion for the Warhammer 40,000 game which requires the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook and The Horus Heresy Book One - Betrayal to use its contents.
